

XHS Homecoming a Winner

Tuesday, October 20, 1964 Appleton Post-Crescent A10

'For Those Who Think Young' was Xavier High School's homecoming

theme Saturday. Evidence of its success lay in the fact that everyone did. The cheers were loud and long, whether the cheerer was gray-headed or crew-cutted. The dancing was gay, whether the high-stepper was lean or rotund.

The big night began with a pep rally at 5:30 p.m. in the Xavier High School gym. The junior class and pep club entertained with humorous skits; cheer leaders got their followers in good voice, and the entire school body paraded to Goodland Field for the game.

After fulfilling their fans expectations with a 39-0 win over Abbot Pennington, the team was loudly approved, and the Xavierites were ready for an evening of dancing and celebrating.

After the all-school homecoming dance, seniors and alumni stayed on for a special social in the gym.

Everyone was young in heart at Xavier's homecoming dance Saturday evening in the school Commons. Decorations, under the skilled hand of art students, took on the look of another era, that of the straw hat and the bowler, but the celebrators were strictly modern, and the victory was as fresh as tomorrow. Above, at the dance, are Dan Leary, class of '65, and Karen Pankratz, and Tom Schaefer and Pat Probst, Class of '63. At right, Mary Seering and Mike Moder look at pictures of former 'Hawks'.

Cheerleaders learn how to draw the biggest and loudest sounds from a crowd, and had no trouble getting Xavier fans to cooperate at the pep rally before Saturday's homecoming contest. At left, Miss Maripat Van De Hey entertained a group of friends at a cocktail party before the dance. They are Wayne Nunenkamp, Miss Van De Hey, Frank Stoll and Joyce Lessard. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Wedding Promises Exchanged

NEENAH—Miss Nancy Grace Van Ryen and George Joseph Scholz, route 1, Neenah, exchanged nuptial promises at 10:30 a.m. Oct. 10 at St. Augustine Catholic Church, Harrison. The Rev. Frederick Brost officiated at the double ring wedding of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Van Ryen, Gleason, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scholz, Rhinelander.

Miss Kathleen Van Ryen served as her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jack Wain and Mrs. Jerome Dorm.

Donald Scholz acted as best man for his brother, James Scholz was groomsman. Ushering duties were shared by Daniel DeWert and Mark Liberski. A reception was held at the Labor Temple, Rhinelander.

Mr. and Mrs. Scholz honeymooned on the East Coast and reside at route 1, Neenah. The bride, a graduate of the Academy of Medical Technology, Milwaukee, is a laboratory technician at Mercy Hospital, Oshkosh. Her husband was graduated from Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh, and is employed as an electrician for Keil and Werner Electric Co.

Carl P. Wellman, associate professor of philosophy at Lawrence University, will be the speaker at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at the fourth of this year's Lecture Series sponsored by the Women of All Saints Episcopal Church. His topic will be the "Ethics of Human Rights." Dr. Wellman received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University and has studied at Cambridge University, England, as a Sheldon Traveling Fellow. He has been at Lawrence since 1953. The program will be held at All Saints Parish Center.

Expect Surprises Of Greats

When you watch a good bridge player you see no surprises. He does everything that you would do when you're playing well. The difference is that he does it nearly all the time. Watching a great player is something else again. Then you see plays that you wouldn't dream of making.

Opening lead — ♣ Q

When Harry Fishbein played this hand some years ago, he won the first trick in dummy with the ace of clubs. This play surprised nobody, but his next move astonished the kibitzers.

No, Fishbein did not lead a trump from dummy at the second trick. Instead, he led dummy's six of clubs and ruffed it in his hand. What good could this do? Wait and see.

Now Fishbein tackled the trumps. When South led the ace, West discarded a club, and the bad news was out. Declarer was sure to lose a trump trick and was in danger of losing a diamond as well.

Abandons Trumps

Fishbein abandoned trumps and led the queen of hearts. Then he began to cash high diamonds. He took the ace of diamonds and followed with the king.

What could East do? If he ruffed the king of diamonds and returned a heart, declarer would get to dummy to discard two diamonds on the top hearts. If East, instead, returned a trump, dummy's ten of spades would win a trick and South could discard diamonds on the top hearts.

East likewise could not afford to return a club, thanks to the play at the second trick. South would discard a diamond from his hand and ruff in dummy. Then he would cash a high heart to get rid of the other low diamond.

East decided not to ruff, so Fishbein continued with the queen of diamonds. When East discarded once more, Fishbein led a low diamond and ruffed in dummy. This set up the diamonds, so that East could get the trump tricks but there was no further danger for declarer.

Tell the truth now. Would you have seen the importance of ruffing dummy's low club at the second trick if you had been playing the hand?

Your Problems

Ann Thinks Advice Will be Unwelcome to Teen's Mother

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I mean. That is no way to treat your little brother.

The next time he pesters me I'll hit him. Just a light tap. The little rat-funk screams bloody murder and my mother comes running into the room. I get heck and he gets loved up. The law says I can't leave home till I'm 18. How can I stand four more years of this torture? Help me — In Misery.

Dear In: The best solution to the little brother problem is to pray for another boy in the family.

Your little brother will be so busy defending himself against his little brother, he will leave you alone.

P.S. When your mother reads this she will probably tell me to drop dead.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 16-year-old girl whose parents were divorced last year. My dad has remarried and I dislike his new wife. Her former husband brought out so much dirt during the divorce hearings that everyone knows she's an immoral woman. Now I am torn between my mother's advice and my desire to be a self-respecting person.

Dad telephones me every Saturday and asks me what I need. I tell him I don't need anything. He offers me extra money which I refuse because I have no respect for him and I don't want his favors. He invites me to dinner with him and his wife almost every Sunday.

I hate to go but my mother pushes me. She says I'm stupid —that I should accept everything my dad wants to give me plus whatever I can sweet-talk him out of.

Am I entitled to whatever I can get as payment for the hurt ing me and she says, "You are my dad has caused me? I need your advice —Albatross.

Dear Albatross: I hope you will not allow your mother's bitterness to turn you into a grasping, insincere person.

Be civil to your father and his wife but don't pretend anything you don't feel. And don't accept anything you don't need.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For the past five years my husband and I have taken foreign exchange students into our home as guests during school vacations when they toured the country. This weekend two girls from Sweden arrived in a station wagon which carried ten adults plus luggage. My husband was appalled when that overloaded wagon drove up. I invited everyone in for a cool drink and he examined the car. Ann, the car showed 86,000 miles on the speedometer. There was one bald tire in the back and the rear window wouldn't open. The driver said the car kept pulling to the right and made a lot of noise. I felt it was my duty to do something about it, so I phoned our minister. He said this was not "in his province." If those students had been killed and he had to deliver the funeral talk, maybe that would have been "in his province."

I called the police and was told to talk to the cop on the

Combine Color, Texture For Appetizing Meals

K of C Ladies To Entertain at Potluck Supper

Apples are better after-school with little touches, such as the snacks for your youngsters than lemon wedges you serve with cookies. Why? Because sweet fish.

The aroma of foods play a part in whetting appetites too. But they can have the opposite effect if they're overwhelming. You can help control this by using seasonings in a subtle fashion. Textures in foods are something else to consider when you plan meals for your family. It's a good idea to try to include something crisp, something chewy and something smooth in most meals.

Crisp raw vegetables and fruits will look after one of these requirements. Meats and cooked vegetables will take care of the chewy aspect. And a peach or pear side salad will satisfy the last category.

If you remember that people eat with their eyes as well as with their mouths, you'll find it easier to plan appealing with a little hot water and continue cooking over low heat.

Choosing food combinations for their pleasing colors is one of the routes to good menu planning. Use colors both to contrast and to complement. Brightly colored foods will provide a foil for the foods that are paler in color. So use them in salads and relishes, and as garnishes.

Serve Contrasting Colors

An omelet served with buttered corn will probably taste all right. But its appetite appeal could be improved by serving in green beans with the omelet instead of the corn.

Plan on flavor contrasts too when you're planning menus. Providing salty foods is usually no problem. Neither is something sweet. But you may need to do a little checking to see if you've included the sour and tangy flavors.

Pickles and tart salad dressings will assist you here. So

Cinderella Year Begins With Tears, Training

BY MAGGIE SAVOY
NEW YORK (AP) — Just as she slipped into her official Miss America gown at the Park Lane Hotel, before midnight on the night of Sept. 12 in Atlantic City, N.J., before the eyes of millions, Vonda Kay van Dyke, a vivacious 21-year-old Arizona coed, was crowned Miss America 1965.

She cried.

She cried while most other contestants came up and hugged her. She cried when her father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. A. B. van Dyke of Phoenix, kissed her.

She kept crying while dozens of photographers took pictures of America's new queen.

She cried herself to sleep.

And so began her reign—a reign that will last exactly one year, when she takes off her crown and places it upon the head of another pretty girl to continue the cycle of dream and reality; a year in which she will trade in her private life for a public existence; a year in which she will enter the realm of American myth and legend.

"It was the shock," she later told her first big news conference, explaining the tears.

Plans Changed

"I had all my clothes for college, my roommate picked out all these plans to see New York with my folks.

"Then suddenly I was Miss America—and everything was changed."

Her reign as Miss America really began at 8 a.m. Monday, Sept. 14, when she sat down to a breakfast of scrambled eggs and a bran muffin and shuffled through a wastebasket full of telegrams which had been delivered to her official Miss America suit at the Park Lane Hotel, in New York City.

In these high-ceilinged, old, elegant rooms she was to spend the first two weeks of her year as America's reigning beauty, the title for which 70,000 other girls had competed in local and state contests in hundreds of cities.

Thereafter, her pert face—and her lithe, classically proportioned figure—will look down from billboards, look out from the pages of newspapers, magazines, programs, in every city and hamlet. Her smile will grace thousands of stages and banquet halls.

Full Days, Weeks

She will travel days and nights, on a schedule blanked out only on Sunday mornings—time for church—and the Christmas holidays, which she will enjoy with her parents in the old adobe desert home which they are restoring in Phoenix.

She'll have most everything dreams are made of: a fabulous, high-fashion wardrobe, designed especially for her; a late-model limousine to meet her every time she steps off a plane; $12,000 in scholarships to use at the end of her year to launch her on any career she chooses; and something like $30,000 in contracts for the use of her bright young smile in personal appearances, advertising and television.

No Freedom

She will have everything—except the freedom to have a date with a boy, and the fun of slipping into a pair of old jeans and ducking out for a Coke at a drive-in, and all the thousands of little things that real life is made of.

For everywhere that Miss America goes, her title goes with her. And this title is zealously groomed and chaperoned by a day-and-night companion, for the first question, because she must have been waiting at breakfast with her that first Monday morning were her friends' parents. They were on her schedule from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. student whom she'd met years ago at Phoenix Christian High suite jungled with wires, cameras, control boxes, lights, microphones, waiters, two dozen This may affect her life, and if

Q spoke. "Let's get this straight. I'm her boy friend. I've known her longer than that other fellow. He's a nice fellow, all right, but I'm the one."

"Will being Miss America change you?"

Right Perspective

Kurley laughed. "That's a dummy question, so I'll answer. Why should she get a big head? All she does is talk for me. I have the personality. And I will keep her humble."

Questions, more questions. Down to Park Avenue, five floors below, for a picture. Up on the roof, for a shot against New York's skyline. Lights in her face, microphones in her face. Same questions again, for another Television channel.

It was 8 p.m. when Vonda slipped into stretch pants and purple fleecy sweater—"It feels good to be warm"—and called for room service.

On The Ram

There'd been a hasty cheeseburger for lunch at 1 p.m. hours fittings, bolts of fabric to see and choose from. A moment for combing hair, then a magazine interview at 6 p.m., U.S. savings bonds photos at 6:15 p.m., cancer recording at 6:30 p.m., a telephone interview at 6:45 p.m., and photographers again at 7 p.m. and another basketful of mail delivered to her room.

Vonda pushed her steak aside, Kurley kissed her parents goodnight.

The Face of the New Miss America, Miss Vonda Kay Van Dyke, is already familiar around the country. The 21-year-old Phoenix, Ariz., coed is shown making up for one of many long photography sessions. She spent the first two weeks after winning the title undergoing rigorous training in New York for her year's reign.

a "sympathy vote" on other grounds.

Said a woman in an electron- ics plant on Long Island, "Keat- ing has done a good job and I don't like seeing a young whip- persnapper come along and try to take it away from him."

"Carpetbagger" Issue
The "carpetbagger" issue is a handicap to Kennedy. He was born in Massachusetts and lived in Virginia before moving to New York, where he had lived for a time many years ago. Keating twists him about this, saying "it's difficult to become an instant New Yorker," and, "there are people who have been waiting in line at the World's Fair longer than my opponent has been in New York."

But Keating has another han- dicap in the form of the Con- servative Party which has put up a senatorial candidate, Hen- ry Paolucci Paolucci, 43, is a professor of history and political science at Iona College, New Rochelle.

In the 1962 elections, the Con- servatives cast 141,877 votes for their candidate for governor and 116,151 votes for their sena- torial candidate

Could Be Difference
If the Keating-Kennedy con- test is close, these 100,000-plus votes could spell the difference

In a wealthy section of Long Is-land — and at a reception for Keating—a woman said, "every- one I know is for Goldwater and so they're furious at Keating. Some of them say they're going to vote for Paolucci but I think most of them will just stay home"

The minority groups in New York are generally believed to vote Democratic. Thus, Kenne- dy should be the beneficiary of most of the support of these groups. But here, again, there may be a question in this elec- tion

Keating has been active in the field of civil rights. He authored the Civil Rights Act of 1957 and aides say he contributed sub- stantially to other such bills

"Sure, I know that," said a Negro in Hempstead, L.I., "but most Negroes don't. They know what Kennedy and his brother did"

Negro Feelings
However, a Negro attorney in Harlem, Mrs. Cora T. Walker, said, "that was true earlier in the campaign but we've been getting the word around about Keating. There's a good deal of re-thinking now." Mrs. Walker is a Republican.

The Negro newspaper, New York Amsterdam News, has endorsed Kennedy, saying he was "a great attorney-general and we believe he will make a great senator."

Keating also was one of the early proponents of recognition of the State of Israel and his aides say he has worked consis- tently for assistance to the new nation. At a meeting in a Jewish center in Flushing, L.I., which Keating attended, a Rabbi cited these efforts and said, "we Jews ing, Keating sprinted up a flight of stairs, two steps at a time, leaving the rest of his party far behind."

Keating Forest
In the hills outside Jerusalem, there is a grove of trees donated by Jews of Rochester, N.Y., as part of the Israeli reforestation program. At the request of the donors it is named "Keating and Forest."

Kennedy is 38, trim, tailored, with all the Kennedy drive and determination. He took his pre- legal training at Harvard and then was graduated from the University of Virginia Law School. He went immediately into the criminal division of the Department of Justice. In 1954, he became chief coun- sel for the McClellan commit- tee. Its hearings on labor-man- agement problems brought Kennedy a good deal of national attention.

Managed JFK Campaign
He managed John F. Kenne- dy's 1962 campaign for senator from Massachusetts and the 1960 campaign for president.

In the present election battle, Kennedy has referred often to what he considers the principal achievements of the Kennedy- Johnson Administration and to the actions of his late brother. Keating is 64. He has a ruddy use it to good advantage with complex, blue eyes, grey hair worn long, and an incades- cent smile.

Possibly to minimize the dif- ference between his age and Kennedy's, he walks like a man to- ward the train. In one build- ing, Keating sprinted up a flight of stairs, two steps at a time, leaving the rest of his party far behind.

One of Keating's aides said 50 registered Democrats in a Long Island community had been reached by telephone. He said 23 declared for Keating, 13 for Kennedy with the remainder not saying. Another such telephone survey in north-central New York, the aide said, showed Keating with 43 per cent, Ken- nedy 28 per cent and the re- mainder not saying.

Money Men Cautious of More Credit

Warning Signals Go
Up On Overextension
In Face of Optimism

BY SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The ads and commercials keep telling you how easy it is to borrow. But some of the managers of the nation's monetary and credit systems are getting uneasy about the chance that the mounting volume of loans and mortgages might run into a double play.

Specifically, some bad risks are popping up because of overzealous lenders and overconfident borrowers.

This unease among the monetary authorities is tied right now to fear that the growing optimism about business in general could lead to overextension by both businessmen and consumers.

And these authorities are citing increasing mortgage foreclosures and some growth in volume of delinquent bills.

Cautious MEN

Monetary managers are by nature a cautious lot. And despite their fretting, Americans by and large have handled the swelling volume of personal debt with a minimum of individual disasters. The majority doubtless will continue along a fairly prudent course.

It's the fringe risks that the authorities are worried about — the ones now getting into trouble and the ones that could if businessmen and consumers grow overconfident because the current business upturn appears to them to be endless.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board reports that foreclosures on home mortgages have been rising. The rate per 1,000 loans advanced was 1.38 in the three months ended June 30, compared with 1.24 a year earlier. For a 12-month period this brought the rate to 5.24 per 1,000 loans outstanding, compared with 4.76 for the 12 months ended June 30, 1963.

Warning Signals

Chairman Joseph W. Barr of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., says that the increasing volume of mortgage credit outstanding and the easing of terms in many regions is cause enough for the hoisting of warning signals. He proposes that next year the Congress take a new look at the entire credit situation.

The vice chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, C. Canby Balderston, says the quality of credit can be maintained at the present rate of lending if bankers and other financial institutions keep a sharp eye on it. But he also warns of the high potential for unsound extensions of credit to businessmen or consumers who overrate their future financial prospects.

Home Mortgages

He urged particular caution in helping individuals increase their home mortgages to raise money for household equipment or vacation travel.

Balderston points out another trend, the large growth in the debt of unincorporated businesses such as proprietorships and partnerships. He says that despite some rise in the bad debt losses from such loans, the trend so far is being kept in reasonable bounds. But he urges bankers to make sure of the financial health of businessmen seeking such loans.

So far the rise in the number of debt defaults isn't alarming. The monetary authorities are just sounding the note of caution to both lenders and borrowers not to get too far off base.

Robber Offers to Donate His Kidney

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A robber whose father died of kidney cancer is undergoing hospital tests to see if he is healthy enough to donate a kidney to save a man's life.

Gary Goldberg, 26, was sentenced to five years in prison Friday after he admitted taking part in a $12,000 bakery robbery.

Goldberg offered to donate a kidney to a man, the father of five children who is being kept alive by an artificial kidney machine. He signed a statement Monday in which he said he does not expect any reward or early release from prison for his offer.

UCS Formulating 'War on Poverty' In Appleton Area

Forum Members Want County Representatives in Program

BY JACQUELINE FIX
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"We have an opportunity to win the war on poverty here and welfare agencies in Appleton that many parts of the country don't have," A. Rowland Todd, United Community Services executive director, told the steering committee Community Forum Monday.

After hearing Todd and Dr. Gilbert James, University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center sociologist, discuss the Economic Opportunities Act poverty bill, the forum requested the UCS to research and planning department's steering committee to explore possibilities of a start-academic education, but more for local implementation of a training nature, he said.

Programs provided for by the law, Todd said, include 1. three youth programs—a job corps with training and work experience for persons 16 to 21 years old, a work training program, and a work-study program for part-time students in higher education; 2. urban and rural community action programs to utilize community resources to combat poverty; 3. adult basic education programs in reading and writing; and 4. voluntary assistance program for needy individuals.

Special Programs

Others are 5. special programs to combat poverty in rural areas, including loans to families and assistance to migrant agricultural employees and their families; 6. employment and investment incentives to create employment possibilities for long-term unemployed; 7. work experience programs to expand opportunities for work and training for those unemployed for a long period; and 8. VISTA—Volunteers in Service to America, the domestic version of the Peace Corps.

"This bill is not designed for the Appleton situation," Todd said. "There is not much doubt that we do not have the poverty problems here that other parts of the country have. But we do have poverty in Appleton, and we cannot overlook this bill."

In order to make effective use of the law, Todd said, representatives of Outagamie County, as well as Appleton, should be included in the implementation. The forum is made up of representatives of various social welfare agencies in Appleton.

Initial Report

Todd said the initial report should be available for the forum's next monthly meeting.

Todd outlined the specific programs of the poverty bill, noting that a majority of these activities are educational in nature rather than what might be considered relief programs. "They are not formal education, but more of a training nature, he said.

Forum members suggested that representatives of Outagamie County, as well as Appleton, should be included in the implementation. The forum is made up of representatives of various social welfare agencies in Appleton.

Firemen Want $30 Monthly Pay Increase

Appleton Union Makes Request to Personnel Group

Appleton firemen Monday requested a blanket $30 a month pay hike and increased fringe benefits for 1965.

Representatives of Fire Fighters Local 257 met with the city council's personnel committee at the city hall.

The union recently was designated official bargaining representative for 80 members of the department.

In addition to more pay, firemen asked for an improved longevity pay scale, increase in the uniform allowance, better vacation schedule, improved hospitalization plan and union dues check-off on a monthly basis.

6.6 Per Cent Increase

Spokesmen for the firemen said the proposed $30 raise would represent an increase of approximately 6.6 per cent in total basic salaries.

They contended, and submitted statistics, that starting salaries of Appleton firemen are below those in Kaukauna, Menasha and Neenah.

If granted, the salary increase would cost the city an additional $28,000 a year.

Firemen said the average annual pay, taking all 38 fire departments in Wisconsin into consideration is $5,020, or $360 a year more than that received by Appleton firemen.

"We are confident that the city also is financially able to pay the increase," they said.

Bus Set for LBJ Madison Speech

Lester Balliet, Outagamie County Democratic Party chairman, said today buses would transport local Democrats to Madison Friday to hear the speech by President Lyndon Johnson in the University of Wisconsin fieldhouse at 3 p.m.

Balliet said 100 reserved seat tickets have been made available to the Outagamie Democratic unit.

Seat and bus reservations are being handled by Balliet.

Assurances Given

Giving the assurance was LeRoy Seifert of E. A. Dettman and Son, the auditing firm.

Seifert explained his firm took over the auditing in 1963 and immediately started to out the machinery in motion to check income tax returns from 1962 on. He explained the lengthy procedure required in tracing persons who may have erroneously listed a community other than Appleton as their source of income.

"Once we compile a list of persons and firms we would like to check out, it will then be necessary to inspect the tax rolls at Madison," Seifert explained. In past years the information was at the Appleton district office of the state department of taxation.

City Attorney, Police at Odds In Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Police are seeking Attorney General George Thompson's opinion on whether an off-duty policeman in a private auto can make an arrest to settle a dispute with City Attorney Emmett Rohan.

Rohan has refused a city police request to prosecute such a case. He said the practice of using private cars places the city in liability, and private insurance coverage of policeman's cars is inadequate.

Rohan contended the issue has been taken before the Kaukauna Police and Fire Commission for a ruling and, if necessary, he would carry the issue to the city council.

Rohan denied he ruled the arrest by an off-duty policeman was illegal. He said he only questions the use of private cars in police work.

Chief Harold Engerson today is seeking an opinion from Thompson's office regarding such arrests. He said the city attorney's decision places the city's Halloween patrol program in jeopardy.

He said police customarily use their private vehicles in aiding in patrol of the city during the Halloween festivities.

School Board Members Seek Changes in High School Plan

Object to Porcelain Panel Curtain Walls, Kitchen in New East Facility

The Appleton, Board of Education registered objections to the use of porcelain panel curtain walls and showed interest in a proposal to replace the kitchen with food dispensing machines during a review of plans for the new Appleton High School-East Monday.

Architect Raymond LeVee outlined plans for the heating and air conditioning system and the swimming pool, and Supt. of Schools William Spears discussed the lunchroom proposal and bidding plans for equipment.

Ready in Fall, 1966

Spears said final plans will be presented for board approval near the first of the year. LeVee said the latest date he would want to see plans go out for bidding is Feb. 1.

He said he saw no reason why the academic section would not be ready for the scheduled opening of the school in the fall of 1966. Questioned on this by Mrs. George Munro, board president, he said "at worst" the pool and gymnasium might not be ready but the school could be opened.

The completion date depends on a number of things such as weather and who are the contractors, he said.

LeVee proposed use of a small amount of curtain walls on the shop wing and the administrative area to lend itself to the design of the building and provide relief from the masonry. He admitted there have been troubles with the panels but said they are being worked out and this type of construction is less costly than masonry.

Director of Business Affairs William Knuth said panels used on Madison and Johnston schools have been "a headache." They require much repair and maintenance, have leaked, need recalking and result in cold classrooms, he said.

Alternatives Available

Board members asked if there were other alternatives to the colored panels, and LeVee said many different materials could be used. Mrs. Munro said she thought other materials would lend "more dignity and a more academic look" to a high school.

Board member Kenneth Sager said he agreed with use of different materials to vary the design, "but we don't want to get to be the city of colored panels on schools."

Board members suggested panels have been "overused" and asked LeVee to redesign these areas using "some other aesthetic approach."

Spears gave the board a proposal for use of food vending machines for the new high school and Einstein Junior High School, prepared by an Appleton vending firm.

Spears said State Department of Public Instruction officials surveyed lunchroom facilities in Appleton schools and their recommendation should be received soon. He asked the board to

Finance Unit to File Tax Claims

Will Recover Appleton's Share of Monies Given Other Communities

Is the City of Appleton recouping its share of personal and corporate income taxes erroneously allocated to other communities in the state?

Members of the city council's finance committee don't think so and discussed the matter with the city's auditor Monday night.

Aid Alvin E. Tews (D) has complained in recent months that Appleton is always getting claims filed against it by other cities, but has not been filing any of its own.

Tews and other committee members were assured the groundwork is being laid for Appleton to have a systematic method for filing claims in the future.

Assurances Given

Giving the assurance was LeRoy Seifert of E. A. Dettman and Son, the auditing firm.

1965 Fire and Police Budget Bids Fail

Director of Society for Crippled People to Talk At Easter Seal Meeting

Sumner Whittier to be Featured At 1965 Fund Planning Session

Sumner G. Whittier, executive director of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, will be one of the featured speakers at the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Easter Seal Society in Appleton Friday and Saturday.

Up to 200 persons are expected to attend the meeting in Conway Hotel. Mrs. H. W. Miller, Appleton, and Mrs. Walter J. Brand, Sheboygan, both members of the state Easter Seal Society board are co-chairmen. The Outagamie County Easter Seal Society is the host.

In preparation for the 1965 fund drive, "Telling the Easter Seal Story" is the conference theme. Sessions will be planned to prepare volunteers to describe facilities that the funds could be used.

Mrs. Munro said she thought other materials would lend "more dignity and a more academic look" to a high school.

Board member Kenneth Sager said he agreed with use of different materials to vary the design, "but we don't want to get to be the city of colored panels on schools."

Board members suggested panels have been "overused" and asked LeVee to redesign these areas using "some other aesthetic approach."

Spears gave the board a proposal for use of food vending machines for the new high school and Einstein Junior High School, prepared by an Appleton vending firm.

Spears said State Department of Public Instruction officials surveyed lunchroom facilities in Appleton schools and their recommendation should be received soon. He asked the board to

Urge Change in AVS Boundary

Director Says Lines Should be Same as For School District

Boundaries of Appleton Vocational School should be the same as Appleton School District No. 10, the city council's finance committee was told Monday night.

Carl Bertram, vocational school director, told aldermen extending his school's boundaries would be beneficial to both city and adjoining town residents.

The vocational school district now is comprised of the city only. The school board district includes the city and parts of the towns of Grand Chute, Buchanan, Harrison and Menasha.

Residents residing outside the city have to pay a special fee for vocational school courses and services. Some adults from adjacent communities have registered complaints.

"We find some of these people want to go to our Vocational school but they don't want to pay the tuition," Bertram said. Expanding the vocational school district would solve the problem, he added.

Persons who have donated $1 or more to the Easter Seal campaign have been invited to attend any of the meetings.

The conference will begin with registration at 8:30 a.m. Friday. The Neenah-Menasha unit of the Winnebago County Easter Seal Society will be host at a coffee hour during registration.

The first general session, on "Rehabilitation Through Homecraft," will begin at 9:30 a.m. Friday, with Mrs. Miller as chairman. Miss Barbara Trachte, rehabilitation and homecraft teacher with the Appleton Vocational and Adult School, will be one of four speakers.

Visits to the Easter Seal Homecraft Shop and Morgan School are planned for 11 a.m. Friday.

After the 12:15 p.m. luncheon Friday, Rufus F. Wells, Madison, president of the Wisconsin Easter Seal Society, will preside.

Lawrence Festivities Set Friday, Saturday

Complete Plans for Weekend Outlined; Game, Dance Saturday Climax Festivities

The traditional freshmen parade in blue and white trim will be in Stansbury Theater at 7 p.m. followed by a bonfire, rally and rock 'n' roll dance at Memorial Union. Janet Walton, St. Paul and Charles Norwood, Chippewa Falls, are in charge of that portion of the weekend.

A chalk-talk breakfast for visitors is scheduled in the union at 9 a.m. Saturday. Followed at 11 a.m. by judging of house decorations.

A noon barbecue and a post-game reception, both at Alex Lewis is treasurer.

Swanne Eaton, Northbrook, Ill., and Gordon Bond, Crystal Lake, Ill., are general homecoming co-chairmen.

Ripon and Lawrence will have a cross-country meet at 1 p.m. Minneapolis, will present a skit they wrote "Exception is the Rule."

Homecoming indoor events generally are in Memorial Chapel, which seats 1,200. While the chapel is being remodeled, events are moved to 500-seat Stansbury, which drastically limits audiences.

Committee Asks Reason For Figures

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fire and police department budget requests for 1965 came under heavy fire from the city council finance committee Monday night.

The marathon, five-hour session—adjourned shortly after midnight—was the kick-off for week-long hearings on requests of departments, boards and commissions.

The committee was not satisfied with the explanations of Police Chief Earl O. Wolff and Assistant Fire Chief Harold Kramer and told them to come back tonight after conferring with Finance Director Donald E. Hassler.

There was well over $20,000 in each departmental budget for which an explanation or expenditure could be pinpointed.

No Explanation

Neither Wolff or Kramer could give an explanation and said they would also like time to recheck their budget requests.

Fire Chief Roland Kuehl is attending a convention in Houston, Tex.

Both departments forgot to include automatic salary increments for personnel in their budgets.

All department heads had been requested not to include proposed salary raises. This is being studied by the personnel committee.

The 1965 budget requests for all municipal departments, boards and commissions total $12,282,453, calling for a $4.58 increase in the Appleton tax rate.

Main Developments

These were developments after the first night of budget reviews.

—A request for $13,600 to air condition the public library was deleted although representatives of the library board asked its inclusion. A $3,000 increase in the new books budget was approved. The library budget was cut from $164,374 to $159,774.

—Committee members opposed hiring nine new men for the fire department, an additional cost of $41,900 a year.

—Aldermen failed to approve the request of the police department for four additional men, citing the size of the force has

College Avenue Reconstruction To be Pushed

Works Chief Says Plan Preparation to Start in September

Plans for reconstructing College Avenue in downtown Appleton will be pushed during 1965, Robert W. Bues, public works director, said Monday.

He told the common council's street-separation committee that preparation of plans for the major work should start in September of next year.

The first phase of avenue reconstruction is tentatively scheduled to start in 1966.

Bues indicated that in addition to the type of new street design, it also may be made more of a boulevard to make the project a two- or three-phase project.

Bues hinted the engineering firm of Madison, which is preparing plans for the new College Avenue project, may require additional money to prepare plans for the project.

The avenue project entered into the discussion when Bues opened a meeting Monday night to discuss the project as well as the staff can start concentrating on the preliminary work for business district renovation.

Other Matters

On another matter, driveway openings were approved for St. Theresa Catholic Church for a parking lot it is constructing on the south side of Summer Street.

Bues said while the parking lot is being constructed in an area zoned residential, it would appear the church does not have to have the property rezoned for the parking lot.

Bues said it was his understanding state law provides any usage in residential zones with rezoning for churches, hospitals and schools.

He told the committee his department issued a permit to the church for constructing the parking lot.

The committee voted to ask the city attorney for an opinion as to whether the parking lot would be covered by local ordinance. He was arrested Saturday in the Town of Nichols, police said where he had taken part in a dance hall fight.

Man Fined for Fight

John Ketchum, 19, of Milwaukee, was fined $35 and court costs Monday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 where he pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct. He was arrested Saturday in the Town of Nichols, police said where he had taken part in a dance hall fight.

Assemblyman Rogers Tells Kaukauna Eagles They Must Vote to Retain Good Government

Hits at GOP 'Revenge on Gov. Reynolds'

KAUKAUNA — "The responsibility of good government today rests not only with those who are elected, but also with those who elect them," stated Assemblyman William Rogers at a district meeting of Eagle Aeries here Sunday night.

He urged Eagles to vote.

In speaking of major problems facing the state today he said, "We cannot afford to stand still in matters of educating our youth or in providing help for our needy. In this day and age, to stand still means you fall behind."

Little Chute Speech
Speaking at a tea at Little Chute Sunday afternoon Rogers said, "It is disgusting the way the Republican controlled legislature continually attempted to destroy former Gov. Gaylord Nelson's conservation program."

He termed it the greatest conservation program in 50 years and accused the majority of trying to "junk it" out of "pure partisanship," referring to the attempt to abolish the State Recreation Committee set up to administer the conservation program. Gov. Reynolds vetoed the action.

Rogers said the Nelson conservation program received praise from throughout the country for taking the lead in attempting to preserve natural Wisconsin vacationland. "So successful has this program been, that several bills have been introduced in Congress patterned after our Wisconsin plan," he continued.

He said the state owed thanks to Gov. Reynolds for vetoing Republican attacks and "for saving our natural resources for our future young citizens." In concluding he stated, "Some day we will all be proud that such a program was started in time to save Wisconsin's beauty from destruction."

Tipsy Driver Fined $100 Waupaca Man Has Reading of .24 In Drunkometer

WAUPACA — Edward A. Barton, 42, 606 Waupaca St., Waupaca was fined $100 and costs when he pleaded guilty of operating a car while intoxicated. He appeared Monday in Municipal Justice Court here.

His driver's license was revoked for one year and his chauffeur's license was suspended for 15 days.

Barton was arrested at 9:30 p.m. Sunday on U.S. 10 west of here after his auto nearly struck a squad car driven by Waupaca County Patrolman John Bonnell. Barton was given a drunkometer test and tested .24. A reading of .15 is considered drunk.

Appleton, County Officials Tour Site Proposed for University

A group of Appleton civic and governmental leaders toured and discussed proposed sites in this area today for a four-year state college to serve the Fox River Valley.

The Appleton groups was scheduled to inspect the 425-acre tract the Outagamie County Board has offered to the state. Located northwest of the city, it is the farm portion of the county hospital.

Another site northeast of the city was also on the inspection tour. The local group is expected to make an appraisal of both sites to determine which should be recommended to a special governor's committee.

The governor's committee will meet with Appleton, Kaukauna and Outagamie County officials Wednesday.

Oshkosh Names U.N. Speaker

OSHKOSH — Chester Merrow, United States congressman from New Hampshire from 1945-63, will speak on "The U.S., The U.N. and You," as part of United Nations Day at Wisconsin State University, Oshkosh Sunday.

Water Service Demand Made

Appleton Denied Rehearing Petition On PSC Directive

Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, which is building a church-school in the Town of Menasha, has demanded immediate water service from the City of Appleton.

The Wisconsin Public Service Commission issued an order last month that the city provide the church with water service.

The city petitioned the PSC for a rehearing and it was denied last week.

In the meantime, the water department says it will not extend the service to the township until ordered by the common council.

And, the council is considering a petition to the Dane County Circuit Court in an attempt to reverse the PSC decision.

In a letter to the city Monday, Pastor C. W. Briggs said the congregation was requesting permission to purchase city water without further delay.

"Because of the fair and just decision of the public service commission, the congregation feels that the city should, and will, do the honorable thing and grant them purified water for the protection, health and welfare of these many Appleton residents who are members of this congregation," Pastor Briggs wrote.

The city has had a policy of not extending water service outside its limits.

Noted Author Will Talk At WSU-O

OSHKOSH — Noted author and former United States ambassador to India, John Kenneth Galbraith, will appear at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh in the Revere Memorial Union lounge from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. Oct. 22.

The speech will be co-sponsored by Republicans and Independents for Johnson and the Young Democrats Club, both campus organizations. Galbraith also will speak at Lawrence University and Ripon College on that date.

Galbraith is professor of economics at Harvard. He served as ambassador to India from 1961 to June 1963.

The Harvard professor is noted for his books blasting American myths and misconceptions. His works include "The Affluent Society," "The Liberal Hour," "The Great Crash, 1929," and "American Capitalism."

Driver Denies Charges After Auto Accident

OSHKOSH — John J. Burke Jr., 43, Brookfield, pleaded innocent to charges of hit and run and driving under the influence of intoxicants when he appeared before County Judge James V. Sitter in Winnebago County Court, Branch 3, today.

Burke was arrested by Menasha police after an accident on Main Street at the square at 10:35 p.m. Monday.

Preliminary hearing was set for 10 a.m. Oct. 27. Burke was released without bond.

County Board Effort to Buy Park Opposed in Menasha

MENASHA — The City of Menasha may oppose county proposed purchase.

board efforts to purchase 292 acres of land near Omro for a county park.

Mayor John Klein told aldermen at the committee of the whole session Monday night that he personally was against the proposed park and recreation area. The county board's annual budget session opens next Tuesday.

Mayor Klein urged the council to "be cautious as to what the county board does and to keep in close contact with your Supervisor." The Mayor expressed the opinion that the number of people from Neenah and Menasha who would use the proposed park would be "nil."

He said this morning he would ask the council to approve a resolution tonight to be forwarded to County Board Chairman Joseph Drexler expressing opposition to the park and also his letters to each of the Menasha supervisors.

Most of the aldermen present Monday night expressed general agreement with Mayor Klein's views.

Spice Says Sign Illegal Claims Opponent's Cartop on Police Auto Against Rule

Sheriff Calvin Spice today complained the use of a political sign on the cartop owned by his political rival, Lt. Jack Frenzli.

He said this morning he would violate a standing county resolution against use of squad cars to advertise political candidates.

Frenzli reportedly has placed a large cartop on his privately-owned squad car telling of his qualifications for sheriff. Spice is a Democratic candidate for sheriff, and Frenzli is the Republican candidate.

Spice said he has asked Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath to rule whether or not the cartop is legal and should be tolerated.

Spice said if the practice is legal, he planned to put his own cartop on the ceiling of his privately-owned squad car.

Brought Before
Ponath said the issue had been brought before the Outagamie County board several years ago and to his knowledge the board ruled that the cars could not be plastered with political signs.

He said, however, that he has not been able to find the resolution because copies of resolutions are not codified in the Outagamie County clerk's office. Ponath is continuing a search through old records before answering Spice's question.

Frenzli, who has taken a two-week leave of absence from his work as an investigator in the sheriff's department to campaign could not be reached for comment.

Twin City School Officials to Attend Meeting in Appleton

NEENAH-MENASHA — Three officials from schools in the Twin Cities will attend a meeting of the Cooperative Educational Service Agency at 7:30 p.m. today in Morgan School, Appleton.

State Supt. of Public Instruction Angus Rothwell will discuss with administrators the committee formed to function in place of county superintendents of schools.

Attending from Menasha will be Fern Gaertner. Attending from Neenah will be Donald Scott, superintendent and Frank Hochholzer of the board of education.

been increased by six during the past two years.

The fire department is asking $638,000 for the coming year. Among the additional items to be included over this year's budget are the telephone alerting system, $9,000; new pump to replace the 1928 fire truck, $1,000, and a station wagon replacing the 1952 model, $3,000.

Kramer said it was imperative to have "well trained men" handling the new fire alarm alerting system and console at the No. 1 fire station. He recommended four new men be hired to man the console but said the department "could get along" with two.

He also recommended five men be added to the department and be in charge of the new rescue truck to be put into operation soon. Kramer said the men would need specialized training.

Committee Disagrees

Most committee members disagreed with Kramer that nine men were needed, and some expressed surprise the new fire alerting system of the Wisconsin Telephone Co. would require additional manpower to monitor at the fire station.

The committee said it might recommend hiring two additional men instead of nine.

pay. . . " firemen said, contending that Appleton has enjoyed a good economy and health assessment increases during the period 1959-63.

$120 Longevity

The present longevity for firemen is $120 after five years and $200 after 10 years service.

In their 1965 demands, they seek $120 after five years, $240 after 10, and $360 after 15.

The longevity, if approved, would cost the city an estimated $3,400 more a year.

In seeking an increase in vacation time, Local 257 pointed out longer vacations are becoming standard throughout the country. Firemen seek one week after one year's service, two weeks after two years, three weeks after 10 years and four weeks after 15 years.

City Policy Updated

Under the city's recently updated vacation policy, all municipal employees get one week after one year's service, two weeks after two years, three weeks after 12 years and four weeks after 25 years.

Citing a fireman is required to wear uniforms and other equipment, representing a total cost of $258, the union asked to have the uniform allowance raised to $225 for the beginning of a clear definition of what poverty means here, he said.

James attended a regional workshop on poverty in Chicago last summer by the United Community Funds and Councils of America and the National Social Welfare Assembly with representatives of the President's Task Force on Poverty. He said he went at Todd's request and because of the UW Extension Division's interest in opportunities for the University to become involved in the program.

One point which caused "great controversy" among professionals at the works hop, James said, was a directive in the bill that recipients of aid in these programs must be involved in their planning. "It has been a matter of great concern to me for some time that people receiving these services have some voice in the program," he said.

Another controversial point was the type of organization that would be granted funds through the law, he said. The law provides that the organization must be focused on solution of poverty problems, and very few would qualify because most organizations have a broader base than this, he said.

Dummy Corporations

It appeared that a separate corporation, made up of representatives of various agencies in the community, might have to be set up as the vehicle to administer these funds, he said. A problem in setting this up is that the federal support decreases and within about five years the organization would have to be self-supporting, he said.

Many areas may set up "dummy corporations" to serve as a bookkeeping agency for agencies providing these services, to be sure these funds are being used for what they are intended, James said.

The government is concerned that these funds do not merely come into agencies to feed programs they are already carrying on, and has set up roadblocks in the law to prevent this, he said.

Dr. Marvin Kagen, forum vice president and program chairman asked forum members to suggest problems on which action may be needed to the steering committee to aid its study.

"Poverty is like a disease," he said. "It can grow. It is better to attack it when it is small than to let it grow and engulf us all."

Motorist Hits,
Hurts Appleton
Mother, Girl

Pair Hospitalized While Police Seek Driver's Identity

An Appleton mother and her 22-month-old daughter were struck down and injured by a hit and run motorist about 5:40 p.m. Monday as the two crossed W. Wisconsin Avenue near N. State Street.

In satisfactory condition at Appleton Memorial Hospital are Mrs. Marjorie Kriescher, 21, and Kim Marie, both of 2619 N. Richmond St.

Appleton police today continued to question witnesses to the accident and are investigating several leads to the identity of the motorist who did not slow down, but sped away after his car struck the woman and child in the crosswalk.

One witness told police the motorist was a man driving a 1956 model car. The car continued west on W. Wisconsin Avenue then turned north onto N. Erb Street.

Police and an ambulance were called to the scene and the woman was rushed to the hospital where both were treated for a concussion. X-rays were taken and both are remaining under observation.

Mrs. Kriescher had gotten out of her car parked on the north side of W. Wisconsin Avenue and was carrying her child toward a drug store on the opposite side of the street when she was struck.

A motorist directly behind the hit and run vehicle said the driver did not even slow down after the accident nor did he attempt to see what he had struck. Police searched the immediate area of the accident for over an hour but could not locate the vehicle described by the witness.

Kriescher, who was waiting in his parked car for his wife, told police she got out of the car on the passenger side. He said she crossed in the road behind his car. He told police he heard a noise like a "car hitting a cardboard box," then realized his wife and child had been struck. He rushed to where they lay in the street to give aid. A truck driver halted his truck crossways in front of the injured pair to prevent other cars from running across them while they waited for aid.

Kriescher said his wife is expecting another child in five months.

study the vending machine proposal and possibly reach a decision at its regular meeting next Monday after the state department's recommendations have been received.

Three Possibilities

Three possibilities previously suggested for kitchen facilities in the new high school include facilities to provide hot lunches only for the high school, a central kitchen from which hot lunches could be sent to other schools as well, and the vending machine proposal.

If vending machines were used, Spears said, the school's only investment would be to supply power. The vending contractor would install equipment estimated to cost $25,000 for Appleton High School-East and $19,000 for Einstein School, and would provide women to tend the machines. A wide variety of foods and beverages ranging in cost from 5 to 40 cents would be available. Many students probably would bring bag lunches and supplement them from the machines, Spears said.

LeVeé said savings in kitchen equipment costs if vending machines are used would be $30,000 to $50,000, in addition to some construction costs. Leads could be run to the kitchen area in case it ever would be used as a kitchen, he said.

Spears said there are many possibilities for use of the kitchen and storage area, about 4,000 square feet, such as a team teaching area or little theater, he said.

Heating, Air Conditioning

LeVeé outlined the heating and air conditioning system planned for the compact-design building. It will use two gas-fired boilers and a hot water system with introduction of air through a low velocity double duct system. Warm air and cold air will enter temperature-regulated mixing boxes and then be piped into rooms, so that some rooms can be heated and others cooled at the same time. Electrically driven chillers will be used to cool air during the summer, and cold air from outside will be used during the winter.

LeVeé said a decision has been made not to design the swimming pool area as an indoor-outdoor pool. Instead of glass doors opening onto a patio for summer use, permanent windows will be installed, he said. This does not eliminate summer use of the pool, he said, and it eliminates maintenance problems from dirt brought in from outside and does away with excavation that would otherwise be needed.

The pool will be 75 feet by 36 feet, with six 6-foot lanes, LeVeé said. The state requires a three foot maximum depth at the shallow end for the single gutter type of pool planned, he said, but this will be deep enough for turning in meets.

Proposed Laundry

Spears told the board staff members have recommended that a proposed laundry not be installed in the high school and that commercial service continue to be used until a central laundry is installed for the school system. Board members agreed that it is best to have this type of auxiliary service handled outside the system when possible.

Spears said in the past equipment for new schools has been plan.

Robot Role Challenges Actress Julie Newmar

Co-Stars With Robert Cummings in Zany CBS-TV Comedy Series 'My Living Doll'

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
HOLLYWOOD—There was a time when robot-like actresses were panned off on the public as movie queens. Today an actress finds herself mustering all of the tricks in the acting book to play a robot. It isn't as easy as it looks. Julie Newmar said, putting down a book entitled "The How and Why Wonder Book of Robots and Electronic Brains." "It's a book for juveniles but it's part of my research," she laughed. Tall Julie of the pleasant curves and baby face is the star of this season's far-out CBS-TV comedy series, "My Living Doll." She plays Rhoda, a scientifically created, polyethylene plastic girl robot with a computer for a brain and "off" and "on" buttons on her back. Entirely new. It sounds wild and it is. Her aerospace scientist inventor leaves her in custody of a bachelor (Robert Cummings) who introduces her to friends as his man. That's the acting problem for Julie, who likes challenges but: "I've never had one quite like this. But at least it is something entirely new and that's a joy. The mistakes you make are all your own. The only thing I really have going for me are my eyes—all the heat comes from the inside—but on the screen that's really all that counts, anyway. But believe me I really had no idea where I was going until the fifth and sixth shows. "It took me that long to capture the proper physical feeling of what it feels like to be a robot. Part of that feeling is that with her computer brain she knows so much she doesn't have to explain anything. Really, it's wild because I'm playing a girl with no ego, no human feelings and with a speaking voice that practically sounds like a recording. Perfect Woman. Gargers may look at Rhoda the robot as the perfect woman — she doesn't act, speaks only when spoken to, obeys all commands, etc. — but Julie cringes a little at the thought of Rhoda being the perfect role for a woman. For one thing all of her clothes are selected by her bachelor guardian "so they are rather simple." For another reason, her eyes are made up to give her a doll-like appearance which accentuates her naturally baby face. That baby face piques her. "When I'm tired, I always say I look like a degenerate teenager."

8:30-9 (Channel 11) — Peyton Place is all aglow with fireworks, celebrating its Founder's Day, but Rodney and Allison are oblivious to everything but each other.
9-10 (Channel 2) — The Doctors and the Nurses provides an auspicious TV debut for Merrie Spaeth one of the cuties in the film, "The World of Henry Orient." But the young lady is in a grim tale much too morbid for her talents. She plays a 16-year-old, high-spirited high school senior suffering from leukemia.

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — 1964 Summer Olympics recaps the de-cathion contests: the women's compulsory and men's voluntary exercises in gymnastics; fencing, judo and Greco-Roman wrestling events in a taped report from Tokyo.

Comedian Fired By Ed Sullivan
NEW YORK (AP) — Entertainer Jackie Mason was fired from the Ed Sullivan variety show after his performance Sunday night on the hour-long Columbia Broadcasting System program. Bob Precht, producer of the program, said he canceled the comic's contract calling for six more appearances on the show. He said Mason was guilty of "offensive conduct, insubordination and gross deviation from material agreed upon for the telecast." A spokesman for Mason said the comic meant no offense by his on-camera antics and claimed that they had been thoroughly misunderstood by Sullivan and Precht.

10 Million New Voters Estimated
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson estimated Monday that nearly 10 million citizens will be eligible to cast their first vote in the November election. He issued a proclamation today reminding them of "the solemn nature" of the obligation they are about to assume. Johnson designated Oct. 25 through Oct. 31 as "National First Voters Week," and urged a special effort during that period to assist the millions of new voters.

See Compromise on Soviet U.N. Dues

May Postpone General Assembly Opening to Allow Time for U. S. And Russia to Come to Terms

BY WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Support is growing for a move to postpone the U.N. General Assembly opening to give the United States and the new Soviet regime time to work out a compromise on the issue of paying peacekeeping dues. Diplomats predicted the opening would be delayed two weeks, until Nov. 24.

The 19-nation, Latin-American bloc gave virtually unanimous approval to the idea at a meeting Monday after the United States announced it was willing to consider a postponement.

Vatican Council Hears Historic Problems Bill

See Support for Document About Common Difficulties

BY GERALD MILLER
VATICAN CITY (AP) — A long-awaited document bringing the Roman Catholic Church face to face with such major modern problems as birth control, racial discrimination and war and peace was introduced today at the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

The document won immediate support from seven prominent cardinals from three continents. Only a single prelate — an Italian cardinal — rose in St. Peter's to assail the schema on the Church in the modern world.

Drowned Out
But the demand by Ernesto Cardinal Ruffini of Palermo, Sicily, for a full rewriting was all but drowned out by appeals by other council fathers that their Church come to grips with such matters as birth control, disarmament, racial discrimination, white slavery and economic strife.

Never before in the 2,000-year history of the Church has a general council take on such everyday problems.

With this document, said Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, the Church "gives rise to a new impulse, a new dialogue, a real guiding light to our thoughts and hopes."

These words were echoed by six other cardinals: Giacomo Lercaro of Bologna, Italy; Albert Gregory Meyer of Chicago; Achille Lienart of Lille, France; Paul Emile Leger of Montreal; Julius Doepfner of Munich and Raul Silva Henriquez of Santiago, Chile, all progressive-minded prelates.

Youth Held In Slaying Of Child, 7
NEW YORK (AP) — An 18-year-old boy was jailed today in the sex slaying of a 7-year-old girl, whose body was stuffed in an oil furnace in the basement of a church.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Kenneth N. Brown said the boy, John Ebbs of Brooklyn, grabbed Janet Young as she arrived at the Bethany Evangelical United Brethren church in Queens to attend a Brownie Scout meeting Monday afternoon.

Brown said Ebbs, who sometimes did volunteer work around the church, dragged the child to the basement, tied her with a cord, strangled her and tried to rape her.

After stuffing her body in the furnace, the youth went to his job distributing literature for a nearby real estate office, returned to the church to deliver a message about church business to the pastor, bought some groceries and went home, Brown said.

He was watching television today when police arrested him early a billion-dollar Air Force program.

Barry Prepares For TV Show Miller Raps Businessmen LBJ Backers

Half-Hour Program Scheduled for Tonight Over CBS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater wages his presidential campaign on three fronts today after asking for an FBI report on "possible security factors" involved in the case of resigned White House aide Walter W. Jenkins.

The Republican presidential nominee planned to spend the day recording a television speech dealing with foreign policy and developments in the Communist world.

He hits the road again tonight for an address at Pikesville, Md. He canceled a speech in Baltimore and postponed until Oct. 26 another at Salisbury to prepare the television show.

He is due to appear on nationwide television over CBS at 8:30 p.m. EST. tonight for a half-hour talk about morality in government.

Jenkins Letter
For the first time, Goldwater dealt openly with the Jenkins matter in a letter Monday to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Goldwater disclosed in his letter to Hoover that two FBI agents came to him in Chicago last Saturday to ask about Jenkins. He said they arrived at 6:30 a.m. to ask "whether I knew pumpjack jet fuel off of the XB70 anything of the personal habits of Mr. Walter Jenkins."

"I informed them of my very limited knowledge of the man, based on the fact that he is a member of my Air Force Reserve squadron on Capitol Hill," Goldwater said.

Democrats See Heavy Negro Vote In Chicago, 99 Per Cent for LBJ

BY SEYMOUR HEISEN
CHICAGO (AP) — President Johnson, running ahead of Sen. Barry Goldwater in statewide straw polls, has been given a boost in Illinois. Democrats say because more Negroes than ever are expected to vote in Chicago.

"That's the way it looks right now," said Thomas P. Sheehan, chairman of the Republican Central Committee in Cook County. "But at this point no one knows how many Negroes have been knocked off the poll lists. As we all know, they move around from week to week."

"They register an awful lot," Sheehan said, "but they get knocked off a lot, too."

An official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People estimated today that nearly 500,000 Negroes will vote in Chicago Nov. 3, about 100,000 more than voted in the 1962 congressional election.

99 Per Cent
And, said Granville Reed, Chicago NAACP branch program assistant, "99 per cent of them will vote for Johnson."

A NAACP-sponsored voter registration drive that began last winter boosted the number of registered voters by 30 per cent — or 100,633 potential voters — over the April primary figures.

The Chicago drive, part of a national registration program in which heavily on community organizations, the Chicago Urban League and various civil rights groups, Reed said.

Reed estimated that 75 per cent of the eligible Negroes in Chicago are registered, "per-haps equal to the percentage of registered whites."

Announce Drop
Sidney T. Holzman, chairman of the Chicago Board of Election Commissioners, announced last week that registrations in the saved Marnie's life."

That drop, coupled with the gain in Negro registration, said Holzman, means "the Negro vote will be higher than in any previous election."

Negroes and other non-whites comprise about 35 per cent of the city's 3.5 million residents out in 1966.

Railroad Workers' Strike in Italy Snarls And Delays Traffic
ROME (AP) — Train service throughout Italy was snarled today with the launching of a nationwide rail strike ordered for 3½ hours each day for a week.

The walkout, called by the big Communist general Confederation of Labor, left both domestic and international train traffic at a standstill or badly delayed. Non-Communist unions opposed the strike.

All of Italy's rail unions are seeking pay boosts and changes in the job classification system.

In Rome, a 48-hour strike of municipal workers tangled traffic. Streets went unswep and garbage was not collected.

Woody Hayes Doesn't Know if Being Rated No. 1 Is Good or Not

Buckeye Mentor Worried About Bruhn's Changes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's grudge stage their annual homecoming Saturday, and they'll come back to the campus to cheer the nation's No. 1 grid team in a Big Ten battle with resurgent Wisconsin.

The Bucks, co-leaders of the Big Ten and winners of four in a row, are the top team in the Associated Press poll and could go right on to the title and the Rose Bowl bid.

But Coach Woody Hayes shrugs off such things by saying: "Right now we're getting ready for Wisconsin. After that 31-21 win over unbeaten Iowa last Saturday, the Badgers could be rugged for us."

Of the No. 1 rating, he observed: "We always appreciate the nice things anyone says about us. But nothing, nothing ruins a football team quicker than hearing nice things from people who can't do anything about it if it doesn't live up to all the publicity."

Keep It in Family

"We try to keep our boys informed as how good they are, but we try to keep it in the family. I say nice things to the boys, but I can do something about it if they don't continue to do well."

"I don't know whether being rated No. 1 puts us on a spot or not. It does pose a problem when you are winning and rated highly—and that's why sometimes I appear bitter as we get better. You never saw anyone with a smile on his face make a good, hard tackle."

Esco Sarkkinen, who has had an eye on the Badgers, tried to paint a threatening picture of the Wisconsin press luncheon guests Monday. Saturday's invaders, after an opening win over Kansas State by 17-7, were thumped 31-7 by Notre Dame and 38-7 by Purdue before trapping Iowa last week.

Sarkkinen said that after the two wide-margin setbacks Coach Milt Bruhn retold his offense and defense, shifted some personnel, and came up with a powerful new outfit.

Retained Muscle

"He threw away a lot of trills and retained only the muscle and bone portions of his offense and defense," Sarkkinen said. "In the first three games Wisconsin made only 41 first downs and 139 yards rushing, but the rebuilt club made 25 first downs and rushed for 282 yards against Iowa."

"Bruhn has put two great blockers, instead of pass-catchers, as end, and has shifted another end, his best receiver, to the flanker back spot."

The flanker is Jimmy Jones, a sixth draft choice as a "future" by the Chicago Bears, who has snagged 13 passes for 245 yards and three touchdowns.

During Hayes' 13 seasons the Bucks have beaten the Badgers 10 times, tied twice and lost once. But the Buckeye mentor said:

"Wisconsin has made some changes and is just beginning to tell. We expect a real dofight Saturday. They are definitely on the upswing—but then we should improve a little, too."

And a little improvement, after consecutive shutouts over Big Ten champion and Rose Bowl winner Illinois, and Southern California, should be enough to keep the Bucks on the high road to Pasadena.

Lones Wigger Wins Second Olympic Medal

art: from Carter, Mont. produced the United States' only medal Tuesday when he scored a world record 1,164 points in winning the small-bore rifle three-position title.

His medal was the 72nd collected by the United States in these 18th modern Olympics. Russia added six to its collection, and now has 35. The breakdown between the two dominant nations shows the United States with 32 gold, 21 silver and 19 bronze, Russia with 17 gold, 13 silver, 23 bronze.

Stealing the spotlight from the team struggle between the two titans, however, was Hoidorf, 21, German physical education student.

Closing Rush

He had to fight off the continuing challenge of countryman Hans-Joachim Walde and Russian Rein Aun, then withstand the closing rush of the favorite the 1960 silver medalist and world record-holder C.K. Yang, before nailing down the decaathlon championship and breaking America's 32-year-old domination of the event.

Hoidorf scored 7,837 points under a recently changed scoring table for the grueling, 10-event, two-day test.

Aun finished with 7,842 points and the silver medal, Walde with 7,809.

Paul Herman of Santa Barbara, Calif., was fourth with 7,787.

Yang, the veteran Nationalist Chinese by way of UCLA, who was the heavy favorite, finished fifth with 7,650.

Russ Hodge of Roscoe, N.Y., was ninth with 7,325 and Dick Emberger, Oceanside, Calif., 10th with 7,292.

Second Medal

Wigger's rifle record produced the seventh medal contributed by a surprisingly strong U.S. shooting team and marked his second medal. Earlier, he had taken second in the small-bore rifle prone position.

The United States also pushed its brilliant, heavily favored relay teams through heats to the Wednesday finals without major difficulty, though a poor baton relay jeopardized the men's 400-meter squad in its first heat.

Bob Hayes, the Florida A&M flash who won the gold medal in the 100-meter dash, had to make the pace in the Sportsman's up two yards on the final leg in that one, did it easily, and later anchored the team to a time of 39.5 seconds in the semifinals, equalling the Olympic record.

The team was made up of Paul Drayton of Cleveland, Gerald Ashworth of Haverhill, Mass., Dick Stebbins of Los Angeles and Hayes.

1,000 Relay Team

The men's 1,000 relay, composed of Henry Carr of Detroit, 200-meter gold medal winner; Mike Larrabee of Fillmore, Calif., the 400-meter winner; Ollan Cassell of Nutley, N.J., and Ullis Williams of Compton, Calif., won its heat in 3:05.5.

Child Slow to Talk May Be Perfectly Normal

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. doubtful cases, or cases in which more precise diagnosis is needed, a blood sugar test, except "Maa" and should also be employed (Or, even better, a sugar tolerance test).

Yes, the blood tests are more accurate. For one thing, in early diabetes, elevated sugar levels will show in the blood before enough sugar spills through the kidneys and into the urine.

From the pure scientific standpoint, it would be wonderful if these blood tests were used universally.

Since he's alert otherwise, I see little reason for you to be point, the urine test is simple, worried about him. And no reason to think that the anesthetic would have been apparent in unknown cases of diabetes.

It is difficult enough to persuade people to have a urine test, even when, during Diabetic Week each year many doctors offer it without charge. If youngsters months older who some people won't have the test couldn't be coaxing to say a when it is free, how much less word, and who all of a sudden chance would we have of persuaded talking in complete sentences to pay for the blood tests?

It is estimated that there are many undetected cases of something suspicious (which I diabetes as there are known doubt) just give the boy time ones. So the simple urine test to talk when he feels ready, still is advisable.

Boys customarily are slower to start than girls.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is a biopsy lesion? on the left mentioned that a person should have a urine test to detect diabetes. Also about once a year, a lesion being any sort of the public is urged to have this of injury, damage, or abnormal test. From my own experience, growth, Maybe a mole and also that of a friend, the A tiny bit of tissue was taken urine didn't show any sugar from it to be studied in a laboratory while a blood sugar test did. This examination showed it. What is the use of a mines whether the lesion is cancerous or is not, and hence anything? — MRS. D. J. S. whether it ought to be removed. I have often warned that in

Herbert Hoover, Thirty-First President of U.S., Dies at 90

Death Came Quietly at 11:35 a.m. Today in His 'Comfortable Monastery'

NEW YORK (AP) — Herbert Hoover, 31st president of the United States, died today at the age of 90.

Death came at 11:35 a.m. His death followed a recurrence of massive gastro intestinal hemorrhage.

The staunch old statesman, whose life spanned a varied career of engineering, high office and humanitarian service, had kept busy almost to the last.

At Bedside

Hoover's two sons were at his bedside when the end came. "Work" was his rule. He called it "the best antidote to talk of ills and pills."

Death came quietly at his apartment at the Waldorf Towers which he described as his "comfortable monastery."

Hoover will lie in state in St. Bartholomew's church, Park Ave. and 51st St., for two days. After memorial services, he will be taken by train to Washington.

Barry Goldwater Will Visit Valley Next Wednesday

Plane to Land at Oshkosh Port; Miller Will Tour LaCrosse Area

BY DICK LYNES
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Wisconsin will be on the receiving end of the Republican Party's "one-two punch" next week Wednesday.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, will bring his campaign to the Fox Valley, and Rep.

William Miller, the vice presidential candidate, will come to La Crosse.

The announcement of the campaign visits of Goldwater and Miller was made to the Post-Crescent today by Talbot Peterson, Appleton chairman of the Wisconsin Republican Party.

Peterson said Goldwater's schedule has not yet been determined definitely, "but he is scheduled to land at the Winnebago County Airport in Oshkosh at about noon."

Valley Plans

"Goldwater will be in the Valley area for about two hours," Peterson said, "but we don't know yet exactly where he will be. He may have to confine his campaign activities to the Oshkosh area." Peterson added, "because he's scheduled to be in Chicago at 3:30 p.m. (Illinois switches back to Central Standard Time at the end of next week, so Goldwater may be in the Valley area for about two and a half or three hours)."

Peterson said Miller will arrive in La Crosse about 9 a.m. No details are available yet on how long Miller will be in the state or where his appearances will be.

Hoover to be Buried Near Iowa Home

Site Is in Park Close to Cabin in Which He Was Born

WEST BRANCH, Iowa (AP) — Herbert Hoover, the only

Iowan ever to become president of the United States, will be laid to rest on a grassy knoll overlooking the two-room cabin in which he was born.

The burial plot is on the grounds of the Herbert Hoover Presidential Library, which he helped dedicate on his last visit to his birthplace two years ago.

The plot, known as the "Overlook," is surrounded on three sides by evergreen trees, shielding it from the winds blowing across now barren corn fields to the south.

The open side of the 30-foot plot faces the library and, a little farther on across the meandering Wapsipicon Creek, the rough-hewn cabin of his blacksmith father and devoutly religious mother.

Funeral Cortège

John Henry, a member of the Hoover Foundation, said the 5th Army will be in charge of the funeral cortège and arrangements under a directive of the late President John F. Kennedy.

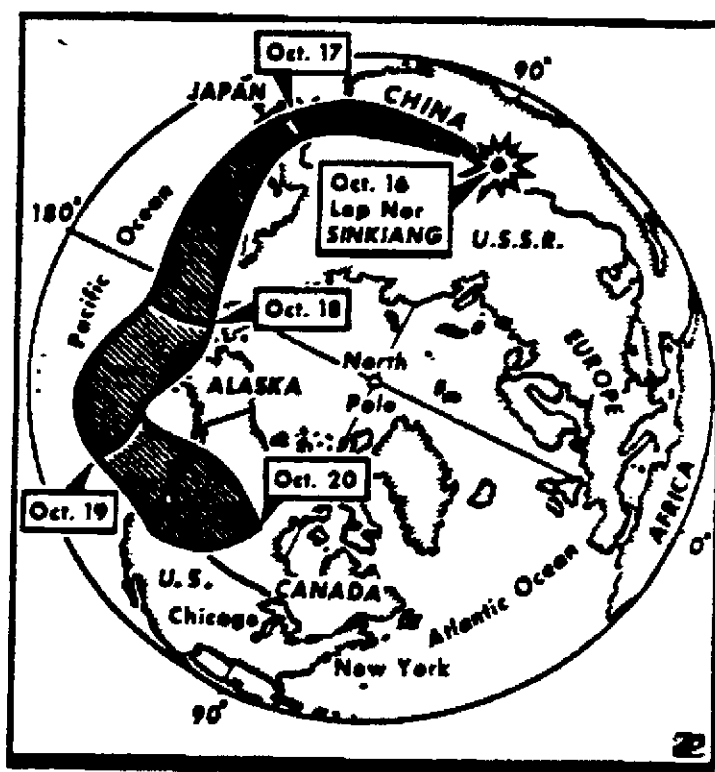

The body will lie in state in New York for two days, and then be taken by train to Washington, D.C., where it will lie in state under the rotunda of the Capitol.

The body of the 31st president of the United States then will be flown to nearby Iowa City, where the cortège will form for the trip here, a distance of about 10 miles.

Henry said plans have been made to bring the body of Mrs. Hoover from California to this peaceful village for interment near her husband of 44 years.

Mrs. Hoover, the former Miss Lou Henry, died of a heart attack in 1944 in their apartment at the Waldorf Towers in New York.

China Hails Atomic Advance as Blow to U. S. Nuclear Monopoly

TOKYO (AP) — Red China said today its detonation of an atomic bomb had "shocked and irritated" the United States and that both President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk had "tried their best to belittle" its significance.

It also noted Rusk's television statement Oct. 18 that China's prestige undoubtedly would be raised because it now is a nuclear nation.

The New China News Agency dispatch from Peking said the Chinese achievement "is a heavy blow to the U.S. policy of nuclear monopoly and nuclear blackmail."

It said Johnson pretended to be concerned about the well-being of the Chinese people. "In spite of the fact that the United States has conducted hundreds of nuclear tests," Peking also attacked Johnson's rejection of its proposal for a world conference to outlaw nuclear weapons, saying: "while vilifying the Chinese government proposal, Johnson revealed that the U.S. government was not interested at all in the complete prohibition of nuclear weapons."

In New Delhi, Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri warned that "the Chinese are trying to build up a mighty war machine and thus create fear in the minds of all." He spoke in a broadcast marking "solidarity day," the opening of the China-India border war in 1962.

Malaysia's deputy prime minister and defense minister, Tun Abdul Razak, said the Chinese nuclear test had "strengthened the Communist position in Southeast Asia."

Pakistan officials in Karachi said the Chinese blast had reinforced the position of countries seeking Red China's immediate admission to the United Nations.

Humphrey in Attack on Extremism

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey launched one of his hardest attacks on political extremism today and said "the responsible Republican leaders have temporarily lost control of their party to the apostles of discard and radicalism."

"By its refusal to condemn the lunatic fringe of American politics," said Humphrey in remarks prepared for a rally in this predominantly Republican city, "the Goldwater party has permitted into its ranks those individuals and organizations whose stock in trade is the politics of hate, the politics of dispair."

Johnson Calls for Meeting of Advisory Council Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Defense Robert S. McNamara officials are watching for possible further upheaval in the Soviet Union's leadership as they consider what steps the United States should take in the coming weeks to deal with changed international conditions.

President Johnson, who conferred with congressional leaders for 2½ hours Monday, has called a meeting of his special advisory committee on foreign policy for Wednesday. This group of prominent private citizens will be given detailed reports on world developments and asked to consider various possible actions.

No Details

Johnson told newsmen that he had met with the congressional leaders, Democrats and Republicans, but gave no details of the information presented to them. He said the reports he and several Cabinet members gave President Johnson "a political opportunist who would sell the United States out to the Communists or anyone else who would pay the price."

American politics, declared Humphrey, has "often involved a good deal of rough play. But never on this scale — never with this venom and personal invective."

President Sets Mourning Period

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proclaimed today a 30-day period of mourning for former President Herbert Hoover.

He directed that the American flag be flown at half staff at the White House, on all buildings, grounds, and naval vessels of the nation and at embassies and other facilities abroad.

Man of Character

"He combined the best of our national heritage with a broad-gauged understanding of the tumultuous times in which he lived. A man of character and conviction, he was both profound and practical in meeting the many tasks he undertook for his fellowmen."

Goldwater said Hoover's death was a profound loss to the American people and to the cause of individual freedom and dignity throughout the world.

"Herbert Hoover embodied and came to symbolize the finest principles and qualities for which our country stands," Goldwater said in a statement.

U. S. Leaders Watch for Six Military More Upheaval Within Communist Hierarchy

Leaders on Downed Plane

Russian Papers Print Articles by Two of Deceased

MOSCOW (AP) — Two leaders of the Soviet armed forces wrote articles for Soviet papers recalling the World War II liberation of Belgrade. Then they boarded a plane for the Yugoslav capital to celebrate the 20th anniversary today of the liberation.

The Communist party paper Pravda published the article by Marshal Sergei S. Biryuzov. Red Star, the military paper, carried the article by Col. Gen. Vladimir Zhdanov. Both articles appeared today.

Writers Killed

Pravda also announced the writers had been killed in the crash Monday of their four-engine plane on a mountainside 10 miles south of Belgrade.

Biryuzov, 60, was chief of staff of the Soviet armed forces and first deputy minister of defense. Zhdanov, 62, was chief of the Soviet armored forces academy.

The other 16 persons aboard the 75-seat plane also were killed. They included four other Soviet generals, another member of their delegation and the 11-man crew of the plane.

The plane was groping for a landing in rain and fog after the 1,100-mile flight from Moscow.

Celebration Canceled

The Yugoslav government canceled most of the celebration. The Soviet government rushed a new delegation to Belgrade for the commemorative observances still scheduled and to pay homage to the dead Russians. The second delegation arrived in Belgrade safely.

The Soviet defense minister, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, was named to head a government commission to arrange the funerals. Another government commission was ordered to Belgrade to investigate the crash.

Johnson Leads Tributes to Ex-President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater led Americans of all political creeds in tributes today to Herbert Hoover as a patriot and humanitarian.

Johnson said Hoover's "unquenchable sense of public responsibility for both our nation and a troubled world stands as an example that will endure."

Johnson read his statement.

"Mrs. Johnson and I want to extend our deep personal sympathy to Herbert Hoover's sons and other members of his family," the President said.

"We have lost a wise American, and the world has lost a humanitarian citizen of all mankind. His steadfast leadership served us undaunted through good times and bad — as a businessman, provider for the poor and hungry, president and elder statesman."

Man of Character

"He combined the best of our national heritage with a broad-gauged understanding of the tumultuous times in which he lived. A man of character and conviction, he was both profound and practical in meeting the many tasks he undertook for his fellowmen."

Goldwater said Hoover's death was a profound loss to the American people and to the cause of individual freedom and dignity throughout the world.

"Herbert Hoover embodied and came to symbolize the finest principles and qualities for which our country stands," Goldwater said in a statement.

Shakedown Possible

It is considered possible, therefore, that the process of shaking down into an orderly government under the new leadership will be less difficult for the current rulers than for Stalin's successors.

At the meeting with congressional leaders, Secretary of

'Four Main Issues' Listed by Renk in New Holstein Talk

Military Strength, Farm Problems, Integrity, Big Government Cited

BY DOUG KOPLIEN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEW HOLSTEIN — Republican U. S. Senate candidate Wilbur Renk outlined "the four main campaign issues" here Monday night as he concluded a day of campaigning in the Fox Valley.

Over 300 Calumet County Republicans heard Renk speak at the Altona. He had been a guest at a coffee hour at Hotel Seymour in the afternoon.

"First," Renk said in listing the issues, "the United States must remain strong in order to combat the advancing threat of communism. The only way the United States can turn back the threat is to remain strong, and if the world sees that the U. S. remains militarily strong," he said, "we have gone a long way toward maintaining peace."

"Big Government"

Renk listed "big government" as the second main campaign issue. "When the people send their problems to Washington," he said, "they also send away a part of their freedom." He told the GOP group to keep problems on the state and county level in order to keep government on the local level.

"The closer to home government is," Renk said, "the less costly it is."

An officer in a family farm and business corporation, Renk listed "the Democratic farm depression" as the third major campaign issue.

He called for removal of Agriculture Sec. Orville Freeman plus thousands of unnecessary workers in the Department of Agriculture.

Renk said, "18,000 employees have been added to the department's payroll, resulting in more spending and higher salaries. Their discharge," he said, "would mean a cut in government costs."

Cites Baker, Estes Cases

Renk gave "integrity" as the last main issue. "What is urgently needed," he said, "is integrity" in the administration of President Lyndon Johnson, he cited the Bobby Baker case, the Billie Sol Estes scandal and the more recent Walter Jenkins incident.

"Government needs a thorough housecleaning," Renk said, and he described Republican presidential candidate Sen. Barry Goldwater as a "man with integrity and personality for the future; to stand up for what he believes in."

Renk outlined what he called "five musts" for a U. S. senator—"reflecting the wishes of the people; exerting leadership in making laws; fighting for Wisconsin, not individuals; being an effective spokesman for his state; and being a doer, not a campaigner."

Democratic Sen. William Proxmire, Renk's opponent, was criticized for being "a smart campaigner, but not much of a senator. In seven years Proxmire has introduced 101 bills in the Senate," Renk said, "and 96 of these bills have been turned down."

Tax Cut Vote

Proxmire also was criticized for his Senate vote against the income tax cut.

"But just a few months after passage of the tax cut," Renk said, "Proxmire is trying to take partial credit for it in his campaign."

Quoting what he called "a recent survey of newsmen to rank senators," Renk said Proxmire was listed as "the fourth worst member of the Senate."

"If I'm elected," Renk said, "I sure couldn't do any worse than that."

Patrol Sergeant Debate Will Go Back to Board

Appointment to Jobs Has Caused Committee Dispute

The debated selection of an Outagamie County police traffic sergeant will apparently be taken back to the county board.

Members of the police and traffic committee Monday said they had no intention of removing the stripes from Sgt. William Block, the committee's selection for the post, and to place a patrolman in his job.

The patrolman, Orville Crane, is the applicant recommended by the civil service and salary committee. The civil service and salary committee selected Crane after results of a test were announced. Crane, according to the civil service and salary committee, is the only applicant who passed the test and can be considered for the post.

Appointment Confirmed

Capt. Ronald Decker, head of the traffic patrol, selected Block for the post and the appointment was confirmed by the traffic committee. Block is a 14-year veteran of the patrol.

Traffic and police committee chairman Norman Austin, Town of Oneida, said today that as far as he was concerned, the selection is final. His committee had been requested by the county board to study a resolution by the civil service and salary committee to rescind the appointment and replace Block with Crane. The committee is to report Nov. 10 on its study.

"We know we are right and we have followed the civil service rules in this selection," Austin said further work on the civil service and salary committee's resolution is to be done before the traffic committee drafts its reply.

North Sectional 'Fall Grand Promenade' Attracts 100 Members; Programs Explained

NEW LONDON — The sixth annual "North Sectional Fall Grand Promenade and Wreck" of the Wisconsin 40 et 8 was held here Sunday. The festivities were attended by 40 et 8 members from five districts in the northern half of the state.

Special guests were Grand Chef de Gare, State Commandeur, Victor Lucas, Twin Lakes, and grand correspondent, Jack E. Wilson, Milwaukee.

State officers addressed the group of 100 Sunday morning at a closed business session.

Wilson and Lucas brought district officers up to date on 40 et 8 programs and discussed problems with the local representatives.

Main Projects

Nurses training and child welfare programs, the two main projects of 40 et 8, were discussed. Wilson said 40 et 8 is sponsoring 60 girls in nurses training in the state and has 2,500 under its auspices in the nation.

An irrevocable $300,000 trust fund has been established by the national headquarters, Indianapolis, Ind., according to Wilson. Wilson said a $15,000 disbursing fund to take care of child aid requests has been set up.

Car Careens Off Mailbox Into Auto

7 Injured in Crash In Town of Oneida, Taken to Green Bay

A car which careened off a mailbox, turned around and headed in the opposite direction early Sunday morning on Seminary Road in the Town of Oneida, collided head-on with a second car, injuring seven persons.

Taken to St. Mary Hospital in Green Bay with head cuts and other injuries were Mr. and Mrs. Julius H. Charles, of Oneida, who were in one car, and Casper Hill, 27, Kenneth Webster, 21, Leonard Dostator, 29, and Diane House, 26, all of route 2, West De Pere, and Victor Dostator, 26, route 3, Seymour, all of whom were in the other car.

County police said the car driven by Charles hit a mailbox while it was being driven south on Seminary Road. The car spun about after the crash and headed north on the roadway and collided with the oncoming car driven by Hill. The accident occurred about 1:30 a.m., county police said.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles were pinned in the wreckage of their car and had to be pried free. Sheriff Calvin Spice said the damaged mailbox was still lying on the front seat of the Charles car when the couple was freed.

Years of Service

Waupaca 4-H Leaders Honored at Fete

CLINTONVILLE — Recognition was paid to Waupaca County 4-H leaders at a banquet held for 275 persons Saturday night at St. Martin Lutheran School gymnasium.

Leaders were recognized for the number of years they have been in 4-H, with certificates stating years of service. Special recognition pins were given to leaders with five years of service (silver), 10 years (gold), 15 years (pearl), and 20 years (diamond).

K. O. Rawson, Clintonville, superintendent of schools, spoke and showed slides on his trip to Sweden.

The dinner was given to show appreciation for all the time, work and patience they gave to 4-H members through the year, according to Phil Jeske, 4-H club agent.

Program's Toastmistress

Mrs. Clarence Regel, Waupaca, president of Waupaca County 4-H Leaders' Association, was toastmaster for the program after the dinner.

Guests were introduced by Maynard Nelson, county agricultural agent.

Mrs. Arlene Unerth, county home economics agent, congratulated the 30 4-H graduates in Mrs. Herbert Hamm, 12 and 1964 and presented certificates to them. A response from the Lake Bush Bees, Waupaca, Mrs. Jerome Irl Poeliman, 13, Robert Club, New London, and Mrs. Kenneth Ward, 18, Jolly Jacks and Jills, Waupaca.

The 4-H graduates for 1964 are Juana Anderson, Whitcomb, River View 4-H Club.

TB Skin Tests Given Pupils At New London

Most Precious Blood
Students Take Part
In Medical Program

NEW LONDON—Tuberculosis skin tests were given children in the fourth, eighth and 11th grades at Most Precious Blood School today as part of the Waupaca County Medical Society area TB testing program.

Letters were sent home with every child in the three grades to be tested. The letter was to be signed by parents and returned before the test was given.

The test is a method of determining if a person has been infected with TB. It is a simple test made by placing a substance called tuberculin between the layers of the skin of the forearm.

The doctor can tell by the appearance of the skin in 48 or 72 hours if the child has TB germs, but not if he has TB.

Positive Test
A positive test will mean further examinations such as chest X-ray. Tests will be read Thursday.

Parent Teacher Association Health committee members who helped in the tests were Mrs. Ralph Ott, Mrs. Phillip Jagodzinski, Mrs. Orville Johnson, Mrs. Robert Bridges, Mrs. Cliff Zielow and Mrs. Gordon Reid.

The tuberculin test was offered at no charge.

Campaign Still Dawdles After Major Events

Voter Faced With Foggy, Tiresome
Race for President

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential campaign has been foggy, limping, undistinguished and tiresome. Then suddenly last week it got pushed into the background by a series of events unequalled since 1956.

At that time — in the race between President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson — the voters were completely distracted by the British-French-Israeli attack on Egypt and the suppression of the Hungarian revolt by the Soviet Union.

But this is a new week, the campaign is still dawdling, and it is doubtful it will get off the ground again before the election two weeks from today.

Into the Mist

With one exception — Red China's atomic explosion — last week's other occurrences also trailed wisps of fog. The exception in the Chinese case was its clear and final meaning: they are now a nuclear nation.

But even this had a gummy quality to it since it is hard to visualize something called nuclear power and the Chinese won't have nuclear bombs for years.

These were the other events, none of them yet clear-cut: Walter W. Jenkins' two arrests became known; Soviet Premier Khrushchev was sacked; and the British voters threw out the Conservatives and put in the Laborites.

Fog Set In

Jenkins, President Johnson's top White House aide and a trusted helper for a quarter of a century, was arrested Oct. 7 on a morals charge similar to one on which he had been booked in 1959. Once the arrests were reported, after anonymous tipsters phoned newspapers, the fog set in.

At the time Jenkins was arrested in 1959, Johnson was the Senate's Democratic majority leader and involved in national security.

But Johnson says he had been given no information or reports on Jenkins that would have led him to question his aide's personal conduct until the story of the arrests broke last Wednesday. The President says he asked Jenkins to resign, and he did.

FBI Probe

Johnson has asked the FBI to make an investigation. Monday Sen. Barry Goldwater asked FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover why no security check was made on Jenkins after he moved into the White House.

Jenkins is a colonel in the Air Force Reserve squadron commanded by Goldwater who is a major general in the Reserve.

All this might make Jenkins' arrest a big issue in the campaign, although its effect on voters still isn't known and Goldwater apparently isn't going to let the matter drop.

If nothing else had happened the Jenkins' case might have been top news as it unfolded from the time it broke last week. But it got shoved aside to some extent the morning after it broke by the news from Moscow.

There Khrushchev had been fired from his job as Premier and no satisfactory explanation has been given on that, either. Nevertheless, the firing of this roly-poly, extroverted, bubbly Communist was kept alive by his own people.

Too Frisky

The new Soviet leadership indicated he was too frisky and risky — harebrained, was their way of putting it — but while he was criticized by his successors they've been busy assuring everyone his policies will be continued.

That only compounds the confusion and, just because of this, everytime the Russians talk about it they get front-page attention, thus competing for space with the Jenkins story and the presidential campaign.

While the world and American voters were contemplating Jenkins and Khrushchev, the Red Chinese let go with their atomic blast and the British voters picked the Laborites to run the government.

But the Laborites got such a thin margin of seats over the Conservatives in the House of Commons it was anything but a real mandate and may force another election soon.

All these events together, as foggy as they were, distracted voters from the campaign which may never really recover in the few days left.

UCS Formulating 'War on Poverty' In Appleton Area

Forum Members Want County Representatives in Program

BY JACQUELINE FIX
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"We have an opportunity to win the war on poverty here that many parts of the country do not have," A. Rowland Todd, United Community Services executive director, told the UCS Community Forum Monday.

After hearing Todd and Dr. Gilbert James, University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center sociologist, discuss the Economic Opportunities Act (poverty bill), the forum requested the UCS to research and planning department to explore possibilities of a start-and-stop program for local implementation.

Forum members suggested that representatives of Outagamie County, as well as Appleton, be included in the implementation. The forum is made up of representatives of various social and welfare agencies in Appleton.

Initial Report

Todd said the initial report from the steering committee should be available for the forum's next meeting.

Todd outlined the specific programs of the poverty bill, noting that a majority of these activities are educational in nature rather than what might be ordinarily be considered relief programs. They are not formal academic education, but more of a training nature, he said.

Programs provided for by the law, Todd said, include 1. three youth programs—a job corps with training and work experience for persons 16 to 21 years old, a work training program, and a work-study program for part-time students in higher education; 2. urban and rural community action programs to utilize community resources to research and planning department to explore possibilities of a start-and-stop program for local implementation.

Forum members suggested that representatives of Outagamie County, as well as Appleton, be included in the implementation. The forum is made up of representatives of various social and welfare agencies in Appleton.

the Appleton situation," Todd said. "There is not much doubt that we do not have the poverty problems here that other parts of the country have. But we do have poverty in Appleton, and we cannot overlook this bill."

In order to make effective use of the poverty bill, as the bill itself recognizes, things must happen at the local level, Todd said. Probably the first need is a clear definition of what poverty means here, he said.

James attended a regional workshop on poverty in Chicago last summer by the United Community Funds and Councils of America and the National Social Welfare Assembly with representatives of the President's Task Force on Poverty. He said he went at Todd's request and also because of the UW Extension Division's interest in opportunities for the University to become involved in the program.

One point which caused "great controversy" among professionals at the workshop, James said, was a directive in the bill that recipients of aid in these programs must be involved in their planning. "It has been a matter of great concern to me for some time that people receiving these services have some voice in the program," he said.

Another controversial point was the type of organization that would be granted funds through the law, he said. The law provides that the organization must be focused on solution of poverty problems, and very few would qualify because most organizations have a broader base than this, he said.

Dummy Corporations

It appeared that a separate corporation, made up of representatives of various agencies in the community, might have to be set up as the vehicle to administer these funds, he said. A problem in setting this up is that the federal support decreases and within about five years the organization would have to be self-supporting, he said.

Many areas may set up "dummy corporations" to serve as a bookkeeping agency for agencies providing these services, to be sure these funds are being used for what they are intended, James said.

The government is concerned that these funds do not merely come into agencies to feed programs they are already carrying on, and has set up roadblocks in the law to prevent this, he said.

Dr. Marvin Kagen, forum vice president and program chairman, asked forum members to

Youth Who Took Car Ordered to Make Restitution

MARION — A 14-year-old boy who confessed to his parents that he took a 1965 auto from a local garage for a 50-mile joy ride was ordered to make restitution for damages to the garage. He appeared here Monday in Municipal Justice Court.

The boy broke into the garage and drove the auto to his home 25 miles north of here and informed his parents who contacted Police Chief Jack Bettow of Marion.

Police were told the boy is under treatment for a nervous disorder.

County Extension Agents Honored At Conference

OSHKOSH — Two Winnebago County extension agents were honored during the annual extension conference last week at the University of Wisconsin.

Donald Tripp, farm management agent, was initiated into Epsilon Sigma Phi, the Wisconsin Chapter of the national honorary extension fraternity. Vernon Peroutky, agriculture agent, was recognized by the fraternity for 25 years of extension service.

Tripp also was elected director for three years on the board of Wisconsin Extension Workers Association, a membership organization including extension workers on the university staff from the counties and the university campus.

Peroutky has completed 19 years in Winnebago County. Previously, he was in Kewaunee, Green and Lafayette and Pierce counties, the latter being his home county. He taught in high schools at Montello, Plum City and Ellsworth before that. He is past president of the Wisconsin Extension Association and past chief of Epsilon Sigma Phi. He earned an associate professor degree from the University of Wisconsin with an advanced degree in extension education in 1951.

Tripp has a 10-year tenure in Winnebago County and taught for two years at Rochester, Wis. high school. He served in the U.S. Navy and is active in the Oshkosh Civil Defense auxiliary police. Both Tripp and Peroutky are graduates of Wisconsin State University - River Falls.

Horicon Marsh May be Closed After Wednesday

MADISON (AP) — The State Conservation Department reported it expects an announcement from federal officials today to close the Horicon area goose hunting season effective at Sunset Wednesday.

The registered bag through Saturday was 9,500 birds and the quota of 11,000 is expected to be reached by Wednesday, a department spokesman said.

The season will remain open outside the registration zone in Dodge and Fond du Lac counties.

Tipsy Driver Fined $100

Waupaca Man Has Reading of .24 In Drunkometer

WAUPACA — Edward A. Bardoni, 42, 606 Waupaca St., Waupaca, was fined $100 and costs when he pleaded guilty of operating a car while intoxicated. He appeared Monday in Municipal Justice Court here.

His driver's license was revoked for one year and his chauffeur's license was suspended for 15 days.

Bardoni was arrested at 9:30 p.m. Sunday on U.S. 10 west of here after his auto nearly struck a squad car driven by Waupaca County Patrolman John Bonnell. Bardoni was given a drunkometer test and tested .24. A reading of .15 is considered drunk.

Real Estate Firm Owner Dies at 83

Mrs. Ellis F. Carroll, 83, 121 N. Appleton St., died at 1:40 a.m. Monday in her home. She was owner of Carroll and Carroll Real Estate since the death of her husband in 1927.

Mrs. Carroll was born in the Town of Mackville March 3, 1881, and had been a resident of Appleton most of her life.

She was a former president of the Appleton Board of Realtors and a former vice president of the Women's Council of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, a member of the Appleton Association of Real Estate Agents and of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce.

She was a member of the Third Order of St. Francis, Christian Mothers Society of St. Joseph Catholic Church and past president Appleton Business and Professional Women's Club.

She is survived by two sisters, three nieces and one nephew.

Funeral services will be at 9 a.m. Wednesday from St. Joseph Catholic Church with interment following in St. Joseph Cemetery. Friends may call at Wichmann Funeral Home after 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Post-Crescent Omits Candidates Names in Mechanical Mistake

Because of a mechanical department error, a story in Monday's Post-Crescent about a League of Women Voters' candidates rally in Roosevelt Junior High School at 7:45 p.m., Oct. 27 was incorrect.

The article should have said candidates for the 14th State Senate District, Outagamie County's First and Third Assembly District and for sheriff will be featured speakers. The candidates are Democrats Richard Wege, for the Senate seat; Maurice Stack, First Assembly; Wilbur Brick, Third Assembly; and Calvin Spice, sheriff.

The Republicans are Gerald Lorge, for the Senate; Harold Froehlich, First Assembly; Ervin Conradt, Third Assembly; and Jack Frenz, sheriff.

Motorist Hits, Hurts Appleton Mother, Girl

Pair Hospitalized While Police Seek Driver's Identity

An Appleton mother and her 22-month-old daughter were struck down and injured by a hit and run motorist about 5:40 p.m. Monday as the two crossed W. Wisconsin Avenue near N. State Street.

In satisfactory condition at Appleton Memorial Hospital are Mrs. Marjorie Kriescher, 21, and Kim Marie, both of 2819 N. Richmond St.

Appleton police today continued to question witnesses to the accident and are investigating several leads to the identity of the motorist who did not slow down, but sped away after his car struck the woman and child in the crosswalk.

One witness told police the motorist was a man driving a 1956 model car. The car continued west on W. Wisconsin Avenue then turned north onto N. Erb Street.

Police and an ambulance were called to the scene and the woman was rushed to the hospital where both were treated for a concussion. X-rays were taken and both are remaining under observation.

Mrs. Kriescher had gotten out of a car parked on the north side of W. Wisconsin Avenue and was carrying her child toward a drug store on the opposite side of the street when she was struck.

A motorist directly behind the hit and run vehicle said the driver did not even slow down after the accident nor did he attempt to see what he had struck. Police searched the immediate area of the accident for over an hour but could not locate the vehicle described by the witness.

Kriescher, who was waiting in his parked car for his wife, told police she got out of the car on the passenger side. He said she crossed in the road behind his car. He told police he heard a noise like a "car hitting a cardboard box," then realized his wife and child had been struck. He rushed to where they lay in the street to give aid. A truck driver halted his truck crossways in front of the injured pair to prevent other cars from running across them while they waited for aid.

Kriescher said his wife is expecting another child in five months.

Rural Shiocton Man Treated at Shawano For Gunshot Wound

LEEMAN — David Bisterfel, 80, route 1, Shiocton, was released Monday from Shawano Municipal Hospital where he had been treated for a gunshot wound.

The hunting accident occurred Oct. 11 when his grandson, Lee Bisterfel, 11, was shooting at a squirrel. The bullet entered a building, glanced off the floor and hit the elder Bisterfel in the ankle.

Fireman Called When Leaves Burn Pole

LITTLE CHUTE — Assistant fire chief Thomas Lamers was called at 5:20 p.m. Sunday to extinguish a fire in a pile of leaves in the basement of an unoccupied home at Wilson and Park streets.

A resident of the area informed Lamers he saw a couple of boys run from the home shortly before smoke started to come from the basement. The assistant chief was able to quell the blaze before damage occurred.

Wynand Bergacker Marion Bakery Owner, Former Justice Dies

MARION — Wynand J. Bergacker, 58, owner of Bergacker's Bakery and a former justice of the peace, died at 6:15 p.m. Sunday.

He was a member of the Tri-Poli Temple of Milwaukee; a member and past master of the Clintonville Blue Lodge No. 197, a member of Royal Arch Chapter No. 103; Knights Commandary No. 44, and a member of the Marion First Methodist Church. He is survived by his widow, three sons, a brother and three sisters.

Memorial services will be 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Clintonville

American Can, Skelley Enter Resin Market

SPECIAL TO THE POST-CRESCENT

NEW YORK — American Can Co. and Skelley Oil Co. today announced the establishment of a new company which will operate a petrochemical complex for the manufacture of olefins and polyolefin plastic resins.

American and Skelley each will have a 50 per cent interest in the new company.

Marathon, Menasha, is a division of American Can.

William C. Stolk, chairman of American Can, and Don H. Miller, president of Skelley, said construction of a new multi-million dollar plant, to be located in the Chicago area, would begin in early 1965.

Both executives described the entry into the rapidly growing resin market as a major diversification step for each company.

The Jenkins Case

The Warren Report on the assassination of President Kennedy deplored the lack of liaison between the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Secret Service. Better relations and efforts to act in the interests of the nation and not of the individual agencies would have meant better protection for the President in Dallas and perhaps his life, the report implied.

And now we have the case of Walter Jenkins and more lack of liaison.

The Secret Service is part of the Treasury Department and Douglas Dillon, Secretary of the Treasury, has reported on how it came about that a man arrested as a sex pervert had full security clearance at the White House. The FBI had received the report from the District of Columbia police that Jenkins had been arrested in 1959 on a charge of disorderly conduct (pervert). Jenkins forfeited bond and no follow-up was made either by the police or by the FBI as far as has been stated. This in itself is appalling. In Wisconsin any person so charged must have psychological examination. And the FBI knew it had made a security clearance examination of Jenkins only the year before!

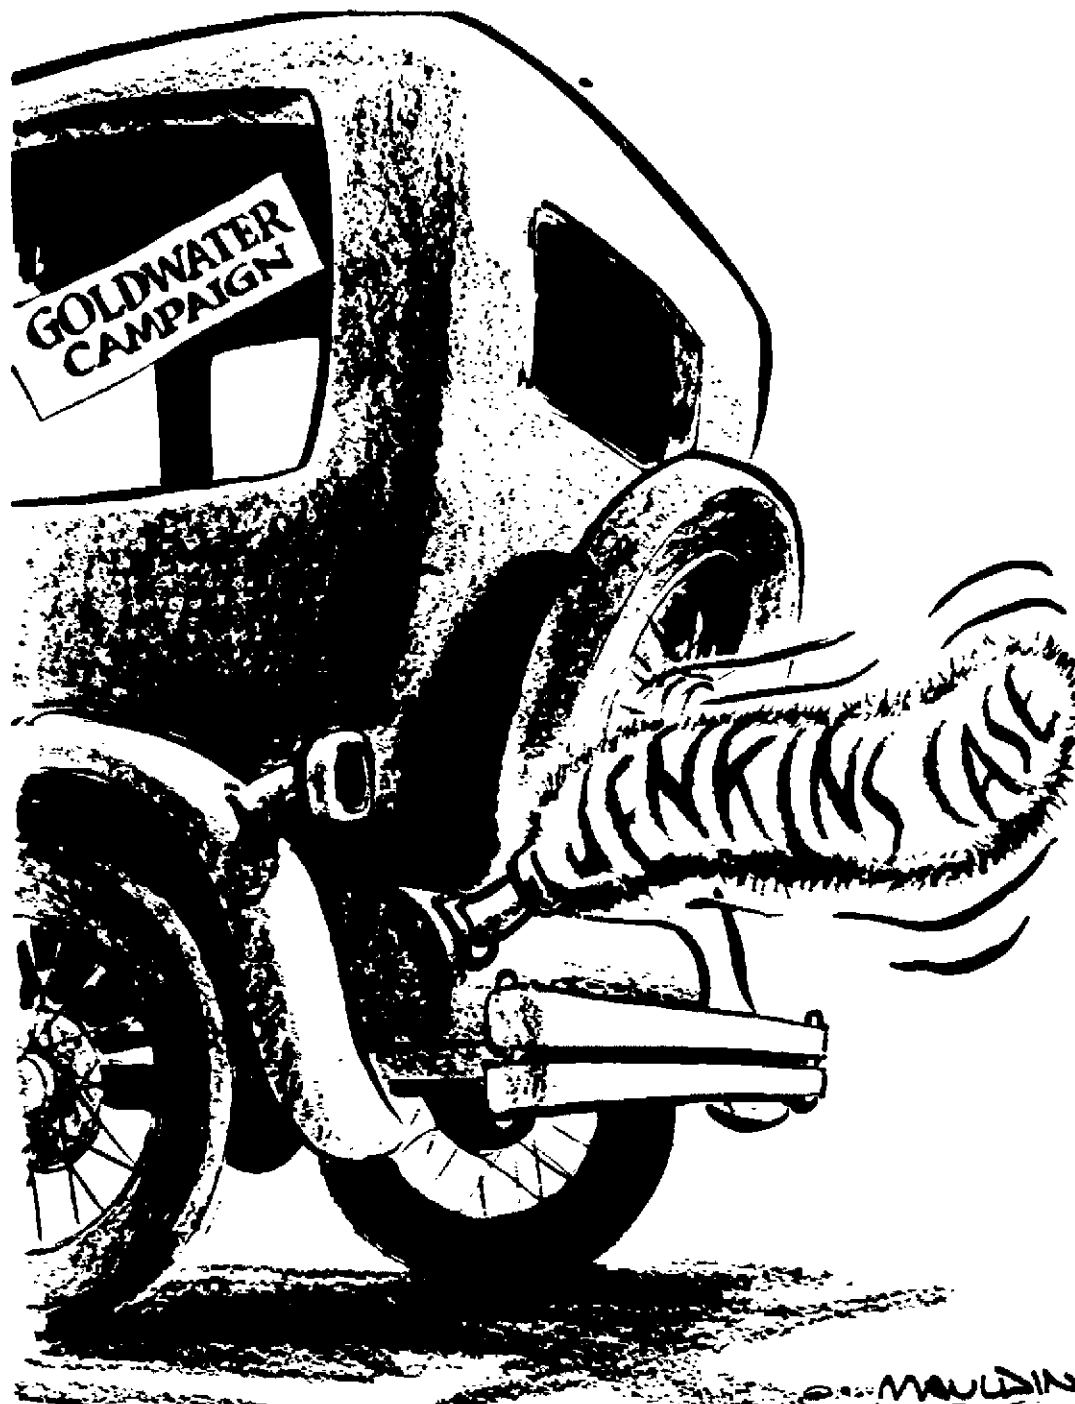

In 1961 a request was made for a White House pass for Jenkins so the Secret Service requested security and criminal files on Jenkins. Both were sent. The criminal file had only a one-line entry that Jenkins' fingerprints were on file with the D.C. police for "investigation, suspicious person." Who changed the record?

Nobody in the Secret Service thought this was important enough to investigate. Besides the White House told the Secret Service that Jenkins had a "current" top-secret clearance, according to Dillon. The White House pass was issued. And a man who was obviously blackmailable had full access to the most important secrets of the nation.

Ever since Senator Joseph McCarthy overstated the problem of deviates in sensitive positions, the government has leaned over backward not to "persecute" anyone. This is all very well as far as people with merely differing opinions are concerned. But it should not mean that cronies of the President are automatically exempt from security checks. People with personal weaknesses which can be exploited have no business in the White House. If the FBI spent less time in bragging about the capture of John Dillinger and in paying obeisance to J. Edgar Hoover and more in dealing with the problems of 1964, and if the Secret Service stopped worrying about who is responsible and asserted some authority, Jenkins would not have been in the White House. And a President might not have been murdered.

President Johnson says that he knew nothing of Jenkins' arrest and what must have been a recurring problem. We must take his statement and the explanation of Secretary Dillon for fact unless other factual evidence is revealed to the contrary. But all Americans are rightfully concerned about these two instances of lack of coordination and failure to act on the part of both the FBI and the Secret Service.

Tiger in the Tank

Last Chance to Register

Fox Cities residents have until 5 p.m. Wednesday to register to vote in the Nov. 3 presidential election.

There's no need to repeat the importance of every man and woman going to the polls in a few weeks—there are countless reasons for you to exercise your right to vote whether it be a national, state or local election.

Much is at stake in this year's presidential election and your vote will have just that much more meaning. If not registered yet, get to your clerk's office before Wednesday's deadline.

Here are some vital statistics regarding voter qualification, registration and absentee balloting:

- You must be a U.S. citizen and 21 years or over to be eligible to vote, have one year's residence in Wisconsin, and 10 day's residence in your voting district (ward).

- If you lived in Wisconsin less than a year you may vote for presidential and vice presidential candidates by applying to your local clerk for an "application for ballot."

- Voter registration in Wisconsin is permanent but if you have not voted within two years your name has been dropped from the poll list and you must register again. Persons who changed their name (marriage etc.) must register in person at the clerk's office. However, a change of address may be mailed or telephoned in.

- An absent, sick or disabled qualified voter can now apply to the clerk's office for an absentee ballot.

The British Election

Scandal can have long-reaching effects. Undoubtedly it contributed heavily to the defeat last week of Great Britain's Conservative Party after thirteen years of rule. If the election had been held a year ago when all of England was echoing with the Profumo-Christine Keeler case, the margin of victory for the Labor Party might have been much greater.

As it is, there is hardly a mandate to the new Prime Minister, Harold Wilson, for any great social changes. The Laborites picked up only fifty-seven seats in the House of Commons and their lead over the Conservatives in Parliament is by the slim majority of twelve.

The new Prime Minister, busy forming a new cabinet since his appointment by Queen Elizabeth, has two particular policies he wants to put through Parliament. The first is the nationalization once more of the ever-ailing British steel industry. It was nationalized when the Labor Party came to power at the end of World War II, but it was returned to primarily private control when the Conservatives took command.

The second issue concerns England's nuclear deterrent which is separate from that of NATO. The cost is tremendous; the deterrent power really not very effective. If England were ever really attacked by the Soviet Union, it would need the added protection of NATO. But the possession of a separate nuclear deterrent, however small, gives the British the added sense of security that comes with a finger on the trigger. If the United States, which controls the rest of nuclear weapons in Europe, except the few developed by France, refused to commit such weapons because of a fear of escalation, England would have the power to shoot off a few herself and thus presumably draw nuclear retaliation from the aggressor—and force NATO into using its nuclear power.

But Prime Minister Wilson is firmly against this sort of safety valve. He argues that the possession of nuclear deterrent weapons is more likely to draw nuclear attack directly upon Great Britain. But this, too, is a highly controversial issue among a people who have resented the necessity of turning to the United States for aid and who have seen the Empire crumble away. A deciding factor in this dispute may be the stands taken by the successors to Khrushchev in the Soviet Union.

There were a number of issues debated which lost for the Conservatives. But last year's scandals, while never touching Prime Minister Sir Alex Douglas-Home, certainly were an important factor. There may be something of a warning in the British election results for the Democrats in Washington.

Grand Chute Not Adequately Represented on Planning Body

Editor, Post-Crescent:

As a citizen of the Town of Grand Chute, I am very disturbed that we have been denied our voice in the planning and control of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission. In the last two years, residents of Grand Chute, at their annual meetings, have overwhelmingly supported the activities and budget of the commission. Yet town board members, and especially, Mr. Arthur Lecker, chairman, (who is our Planning Commission representative) have been leading critics of planning activities.

For example, out of 13 cities, villages, and town members of the FVRPC, Grand Chute was the only one to refuse recommending money for an expressway system around the Fox Cities. This week the Outagamie County Board overrode their decision, and approved the money. And some months ago the town board also refused granting a sum of less than $200 for a soil survey. This was passed by the citizens at the annual meeting.

In examining the attendance of Mr. Lecker, who is also chairman of the County Zoning Committee, and could contribute much to planning meetings, I find he has only attended 3 out of 18 meetings, since January 1, 1963. And in each of the 15 monthly meetings missed by Mr. Lecker, he never once sent an alternate representative, even though two supervisors have been appointed for this purpose.

The Chairman of the County Board recently suggested Mr. Lecker's committee be responsible for keeping the County Board informed on planning activities. Considering the attendance record of Mr. Lecker, this really doesn't sound like a very good idea.

I also think the citizens of Grand Chute are interested in a full-time representative to the commission. And if Mr. Lecker is going to continue to criticize the planning activities, he will have to convince some of us that his criticism is backed by knowledge.

Plamann School Should Be Operated by County

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Most of us are aware of the changes taking place within our school system today, but how will it affect the future pupils of the Robert Plamann School?

This is a plea to all of our elected officials who serve us as County Board members. The fate of our little trainable children is in their hands and votes.

The Jacobs Corporation hired by the board to make a survey within the county has submitted these recommendations: Article 44, the county withdraw from academic activities. Article 46, That Plamann School be a part of an individual school district. Article 47, the last of the three recommendations, that a coordinator be retained and keep Plamann School on the county level.

Just a short time ago all civic and service organizations, doctors and lawyers, bankers and bakers, sewing circles and homemakers clubs and many others put their nickels, dimes and dollars together to erect this beautiful building to accommodate all trainable children in Outagamie County. They now have their classrooms, gymnasium, kitchen, dining area, beautiful playgrounds and playground equipment all geared to their ability. This has been rated the best facility for the trainable retarded children in the State of Wisconsin.

What will happen if this school ceases to function on the county level? The enrollment is increasing very rapidly and soon the building will be too small for all county children. Preference in enrollment will be given to the children. So the little people who reside beyond the boundaries of this district will again be turned away.

Plamann School is one of the greatest achievements within our county. It spells happiness and an opportunity to those less fortunate than we, so lets keep Plamann School on the county level.

Rothwell Budget Is Something Like Voice Crying in Wilderness

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The deliberate effort of quiet Angus Rothwell, the constitutional head of the public school system of Wisconsin, to publicize his prospective budget request to the next legislature and governor was a suggestive footnote to current statehouse politics.

Wyngaard

Normally the department waits until the legislature settles down and then prosaically files its school aid formula calculations at a routine hearing. But Mr. Rothwell has evidently observed what is in effect a publicity race among the other anxious elements of the public educational system, and notably the state universities, and hopes the legislature will be reminded of his problems and those of the local schools as forcefully as he can manage.

As he put it in his budget document, his agency is handicapped by the lack of a good lobby, and an alumni association, and some of the other resources so useful to the competitors for the legislature's understanding and support.

THE STORY

It is a grim story that Mr. Rothwell told in that unseasonably early budget proposal.

It is perhaps generally familiar to those who are attentive to capital news developments and have noted that it has tended to become a litany of money appeals and cries about financial distress from the multitudes of public service agencies.

But it is worth a closer examination, if only because of the scope of the problem it represents. In briefest form, the Rothwell budget asks for about $265 million for the next two years, or about $41 million more than provided during the current budget period.

The lion's share of the sum will represent aids to local school budgets, without any change in the existing support formula. The story is the weary one of a constricting local tax base, higher unit costs, and an enormously increased number of persons to be served, in this instance elementary and high school pupils who will number about 100,000 more at the close of the next biennium than at the beginning of the present biennium a little more than a year ago.

State capitol news coverage on educational affairs tends to emphasize higher education partly because of propinquity, partly, perhaps, because of the tireless efforts of the press agents of the big colleges and universities.

HOLD ON THERE

Mr. Rothwell is calling out, in effect:

"Hold on there, Mr. Legislator. Yow owe some attention to the local school financing problem, which involves more students."

As in other aspects of the education program, the projections of enrollments and costs beyond the next budget are solemn in their implications even if it is assumed that there is no change in the basic structure of the subsidy program.

But Mr. Rothwell, in his remarkable document, also points to probable demands for a liberalization of the aid methods. The state now ignores capital costs and interest and debt retirement of local school districts in computing aid eligibility. The superintendent notes, however, that the debt cost of the schools on the whole now amount to nearly a third of the total local school outlay. Some day soon that pressure will demand relief from the state budget.

The superintendent notes also, and it is a surprising figure, that 10 per cent of the school enrollment is now counted as handicapped in some degree. Special classes are costly. But their parents are becoming ever more alert to the special needs of such children and expecting more service which foretells further strains in state-local relations.

Harris Writes Book; Can't Offer Review

"Why don't you," a friend asked perily the other night, "review your own book?" Or is that an impossible task?

Pretty nearly impossible, I should think. Reviewing one's own book is somewhat like judging one's own baby in a beauty contest. You read into it both the book and the baby; what you hope is there, not what you actually see.

For the record, the book is published this week. It is called "On the Contrary." It is put out by the Houghton Mifflin Co. And it is available for $4.95 at any bookshop optimistic enough to stock it.

As the fourth collection of my columns in book form, "On the Contrary" will please the people who like the column, and infuriate the people who don't. More than that, I cannot say.

The only completely (and painfully) honest review of one's own book I have ever read was in one of the last columns written by Damon Runyon just before he died. He, too, had published a collection of columns called "Short Takes."

In this review, which was embarrassing in its self-accusation, Runyon termed himself a "hired Hessian of the typewriter" who was a great rebel at heart but lacked moral courage.

"As a study in the art of carrying water on both shoulders," he wrote bitterly, "and of intellectual dishonesty, I think it has no superior since the beginning of time."

He classed himself as a "natural-born revolutionist," who pretended to be laughing at the foibles of society when he was really burning at its injustices; and called it a "great pity" that he did not remain "a rebel out - and - out, even at the cost of a good position at the trough."

But, for reasons best known to himself, Runyon never burst the bonds of his spiritual enslavement, and died a bitter and despondent man — both professionally and personally.

The irony of the situation is that it does not take the "moral courage" to be the rebel that Runyon thought he was at heart. He would have been a far happier man, if not quite so prosperous, had he given vent to this natural feeling and deepest convictions.

Hypocrisy exacts a higher price from people than martyrdom — and the man who says exactly what he thinks will be respected while he is being attacked—as long as he says it out of devotion to the truth, and not simply to be hurtful or spiteful. And, what's more, he will respect himself. (Copyright, 1964)

Potomac Fever— by Jack Wilson

The Russians handle their elections so nicely. "All in favor say aye. Those opposed—duck."

The advantage of the one-party system is that you only need one campaign slogan: "Out of the way with Mr. K."

The Chinese finally set off their nuclear explosion. We knew about it when our sensitive instruments detected fortune cookies in the fallout.

Goldwater says we only need "A minimum of government." Just enough to run a small war, handle the sale of T.V.A., and pay for the Central Arizona Project.

They're giving the White House its routine election year paint job, but the paint is a little on the gray side. Nobody's going to be able to accuse them of whitewashing anything.

L.B.J. is happy about Lady Bird's reception in Dixie. He figures that if he loses his job, maybe the new administration will at least appoint her ambassador to Richmond.

Looking Backward

Rebels Applaud Copperheads

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Oct. 27, 1864.

The Copperheads, by their persistency in rendering "aid and comfort" to the rebels, are endearing themselves to the enemies of the country.

The rebels confess their confidence in them. A Georgia newspaper exhorts the Copperheads to persist in their hostility to the government. It says:

"We can gain nothing by denouncing them. We may lose much by presenting a hostile front to their peace movements. Live with them under the same government we never will. But, in the meantime, if they will use the ballot-box against Mr. Lincoln, while we use the cartridge box, each side will be a helper to the other and both co-operate in accomplishing the greatest work which the country and this continent have witnessed."

25 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, Oct. 17, 1939.

The British Admiralty disclosed that two formations of Nazi raiders made a second attack over the Scapa Flow Naval Base on the Orkney Islands. The training ship Iron Duke was damaged in the attack. A new land assault of German forces was reported near the Luxembourg frontier. The French were reported to have dropped back in the region east of the Saar River.

Wisconsin that year was to have two Thanksgiving days, Nov. 23 and Nov. 30, according to a ruling by Atty. Gen. John E. Martin. The earlier holiday was the choice of President Roosevelt and the traditional last Thursday of the month already had been proclaimed by Gov. Heil.

The Mademoiselle Club at Clintonville High School had the following officers: Jean Zander, president; Ivan Milbauer, vice president, and Nathalie Thirk, secretary and treasurer.

Neenah High School students attending the 20th annual Wisconsin high school editors' conference in Madison were Jack Ward, Gertrude Krautkrämer, Florence Cole, Betty Borenz, Harland Hesselman, Kathleen Hutchins, all of the newspaper, the Cub, and Rocket yearbook editors, Rose Dowling, James Webb, Kenneth Ginnow and Jack Williams.

10 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, Oct. 19, 1954.

Mrs. Max Kneip was elected president of the Monday Night Reading Club. Mrs. Kenneth Edge was named secretary. Mrs. Vincent Derscheld presented the program for the meeting the previous night.

Miss Catherine Taylor, Appleton, freshmen student at Wisconsin State College, Milwaukee, was appointed government co-editor of the school's yearbook Ivy. Miss Roberta Krueger, another Appleton coed at the school, was elected secretary of the women's chorus. Miss Krueger was a sophomore in elementary education.

Senior 4-H club winners in the Outagamie County speaking contest were Sally Brownson, Jean Wickesberg, Clara Laib, Helen Krahn, Verna Mae Beyers, Nancy Wilfing and Robert Palitzer. Miss Brownson won the trip to the state 4-H club week in Madison.

Goldwater on Civil Rights Being Twisted in Georgia

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Democrats of Floyd County in Georgia are busy distributing pamphlets outlining Senator Goldwater's stand on civil rights. They point with care to his record of integration in his stores, in his unit of the Air Force Reserves, in his state of Arizona, plus his interest in the early workings of the NAACP.

The next phase of the pamphlet notes Goldwater's votes in favor of previous civil rights legislation in the Senate. Great care is taken to explain that the senator's negative vote on the 1964 Civil Rights Bill was because he considered two sections of the bill to be unconstitutional and not because Goldwater favors segregation. Just what Goldwater backers have been advocating all along!

Are these pamphlets being given to Negro voters? Of course not! This information is carefully marked to sway Negro-hating, poorly educated whites who plan to vote for Barry because he has been painted by LBJ lovers as a "segregationist." Just one more example of how the truth can be used and abused by clever conspirators.

This information was obtained from Dr. John Vaughan, former student at the Institute of Paper Chemistry in Appleton, who currently resides in Rome, Georgia.

Lawrence Says
World Politics
Last Week Will
Have Big Effect

Place Domestic Problems Second
To International

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Change has come. For better or for worse? Last week can, without dramatic exaggeration, be described in TV vocabulary as "the week that was," but it must also be called "the week that still is." It will continue to shape the destinies of mankind for future weeks and perhaps for years to come.

Important as domestic issues and presidential contests may be to us, it is the far-reaching effect of the change in the dictatorship in the Kremlin and what it may portend in the volatile game of peace and war which today is of greatest concern to the people of this country and of all the other countries of the globe.

It so happens that Great Britain had a national election last week and "changed horses in midstream," as the saying goes in politics. Though the Conservative Party there lost by a thin margin and hence a new majority can any day topple the Socialist Labor government, epochal decisions will have to be made by Washington, London and Paris in the challenging task of rebuilding the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance which for many months has been in disarray. This has been due to a belief the United States wants to keep the nuclear power herself for self-interest or isolationist reasons and not let any other nuclear-power ally, such as Britain or France, share the all-important decision as to its use.

Goes Further

In a sense this issue—falsely referred to in the American presidential campaign as a device whereby one man in Washington "pulls the trigger"—goes further. The real issue is how the heads of the British, French and American governments shall instruct the commanders of their land, air and naval forces to move in concert with authority to act at once and use certain nuclear weapons to repel a sudden attack.

Even more important on the nuclear front are the coming relationships between the Soviet Union and Red China. For the Peiping government, which has just exploded a bomb equivalent to that dropped over Hiroshima in World War II, serves notice on her neighbor on the mainland of Asia — the Soviet Union — and on the smaller countries of that continent, as well as Japan, that she intends to wield a nuclear club in her diplomacy of the future. Will this bring Moscow and Peiping closed together on the theory that the Soviets, by furnishing more economic aid, will have a greater voice in Red China's policy and perhaps exercise a needed restraint, too?

All these questions have overnight changed the immediate problems of world diplomacy. Although ousting Nikita Khrushchev, the Kremlin has yet to make clear whether it is repudiating a man or his policies. A denial of the latter purpose, while affirming the suddenly discovered inadequacy of the leader himself, will hardly be persuasive till there is proof. Meanwhile, the so-called progress under "peaceful coexistence," which has been exalted by the wishful thinkers in America and other countries of the west, will have to undergo some soul-searching re-examination.

Danger Spots

It could turn out that there will be a move whereby Russia gives more help to Red China in her insidious campaign in Southeast Asia. It could step up the war in Viet Nam, thus raising the question here as to whether our military participation in that conflict should be enlarged.

Also, while inside Europe the Berlin wall and East Germany's ambition to dominate a reunified Germany are in the background as a source of friction, there are some danger spots and potential battlegrounds in the Middle East. A small brush fire can become a big one overnight.

In view of the developments last week of worldwide importance, the domestic dialogue and debates in the United States are sharpened up. The question which political analysts will have to consider now in making their appraisals is whether, as in the 1956 campaign when the fighting over the Suez Canal took the headlines, the emergence of the latest international crisis of global import will influence America's voters to disregard all else and vote for or against change—for or against "changing horses in midstream."

Campaign Talk

The Republican nominee has been contending a change is necessary for survival and that timidity and vacillation have proved risky. The incumbent administration will argue that this is no time for changes in top personnel. In rebuttal, it will be pointed out that both Britain and Russia have just done this, and that where the issue at stake is survival, firm and resolute behavior is more likely to deter an enemy than floundering amid policies of appeasement and so-called "accommodation."

America's enormous military might can be a deterrent to war but not if the feeling continues that the United States will passively tolerate more and more communist infiltration throughout the world. Policies of wiggle and wobble on the diplomatic front brought big wars in 1914 and 1939 and 1950, and each time military participation by the United States was considered unlikely. The question is which nominee will today emphasize the role of America as ready to fight, and which one, despite so much talk of the horrors of war, will convince our adversaries that they must not discount America's willingness to take whatever risks may be necessary to assure survival.

Youth Jailed For Giving Minors Beer

WAUPACA—An 18-year-old Menasha youth was sentenced to 30 days in Waupaca County jail Monday, when he was unable to pay a $100 fine for having beer in a car with minors.

Joseph M. Wedelstadt, 18, 1564 Plank Rd., was given the jail sentence by Municipal Justice George Whalen Monday after Wedelstadt pleaded guilty of the charge.

Seven other youths, ranging in age from 13 to 17 years old, who were with Wedelstadt at the time of his arrest have been referred to Outagamie County authorities. Two of the youths are from Dale and the others from the Appleton or Menasha area.

They were apprehended Sunday night at Bean City, south of New London, when James Sullivan, a sheriff's department deputy at the dance hall, became suspicious of the youths' behavior.

After questioning, a 17-year-old Dale girl admitted purchasing the beer in Dale.

$100 Damage in Calumet Crash

CHILTON — Damage was estimated at more than $100 at 7:20 p.m. Sunday when a car driven by Daniel Stenz, 19, route 2, Chilton, struck a parked car owned by Roger W. Teske, route 4, Chilton.

Stenz told county police he was traveling north on Calumet County Y. 1 1/2 mile east of Chilton. Police said he struck the parked car as he rounded a curve.

It was understood that the difficulties faced by the new Namara, McCone, and Seaborg leadership is a scheduled meeting of 26 Communist party representatives in Moscow in mid-December to consider the problem of divisions in the bloc.

Johnson also reported that U.S. officials say they would not be surprised if the Brezhnev - Kossygin regime decided to cancel the meeting, especially in view of considerable opposition to it among European Communist leaders.

Officials here expect the new Soviet leaders to make an effort investing heavily in expansion of basic industry and maintaining an extensive military establishment.

two secretaries at work with his writing.

Until lately, it had taken eight of them to keep up with his output. But waning health slowed him down.

He underwent surgery for an abdominal cancer in August, 1962, made an astonishing comeback from anemia brought on by intestinal bleeding in June, 1963, and recovered from a kidney hemorrhage complicated by a respiratory infection in February, 1964.

'Too Old'

Asked how he felt on his 90th birthday, he said, "Too old."

He didn't make it to the 1964 Republican convention in San Francisco, although he had attended every other one since 1928. But "the Grand Old Man of the Grand Old Party" sent a farewell message, noting he had offered his last word before, but "This is really it."

In that message, he said "Peace of the world is the first obligation of statesmen and government" and that the "major world issue today is whether government shall be the servant or master of men."

Hoover's image was that of "American individualism" and of unwavering devotion to country.

"The soul of our America," he once said, "is its freedom of spirit and mind in man."

Public Service

His range of public service included direction of massive relief operations in World War I, food administration at home, secretary of commerce and then the presidency from 1929 to 1933.

In later years, he made worldwide four surveys for the government, was chairman of the nonpartisan Hoover Commission studying executive branch operations, and carried on various other tasks.

One of his last excursions into his apartment was in May. His "Magnum Opus," he called 1963, when he spurned his doctor's advice against it, and spoke at a reception honoring astronaut Maj. L. Gordon Cooper Jr.

Hoover equated the early space flights with the bold expectations of that kind in fishing and in prayer — and they can't pray all the time.

At the 1960 Republican convention in Chicago, Hoover said then he was attending his last one, as he had done at two previous conventions.

"Unless some miracle comes from the Lord, this is finally it," he said.

Cries of "No! No!" came from the crowd. The clamor delayed the start of his speech several minutes. He called for a rebirth of American pride and honor from moods of cynicism.

Last Appearance

It was his last appearance before the party which in 1929 had nominated him for the presidency. Hoover won with an overwhelming plurality of 6,375,747 votes in the race against Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York.

A little more than seven months after his inauguration, the country plunged into its worst depression, and one of the most trying times a chief executive ever faced.

He was the target of bitter attacks. Critics called him a "do-nothing" president, or al- or unpopularity in subsequent months after his inauguration, though he toiled 20 hours a day years in his efforts to stem the spreading economic crisis.

Franklin D. Roosevelt was criples.

Each of these men had added spirit and character to our country. There could be no greater tribute than this to any man and no greater service to our people.

The late President John F. Kennedy paid Hoover a brief visit at the time.

The son of a small town blacksmith, Hoover was orphaned at the age of 10, and grew up in poverty. But he worked his way through Stanford University to become a top-flight mining engineer and a wealthy man at 28.

Then he turned to public affairs.

When he visited his birthplace at West Branch, Iowa, on his 88th birthday in 1962, a crowd of 25,000 hailed him.

"One of America's great men," former President Harry S. Truman called him.

With the kindly humor that characterized his mellow years, Hoover replied to the praise heaped on him:

"Much overstatement has been made here today and it would take too much time to refer to all of it. But I'll simplify it for you by saying it's all true."

A tall, pipe-smoking man, Hoover had remained remarkably robust until the series of recent afflictions. He maintained that a man should not retire without some occupation.

He served as a director or trustee of 12 educational and scientific institutions, and took part in numerous fund-raising drives.

Good Fisherman

An enthusiastic fisherman, he published a book in the spring of 1963 entitled "Fish for Fun."

He had been working on a history of the years since 1930.

Once, offering his view as to why so many presidents and prime ministers became fishermen, he said:

"I conclude that the reason is that the public only yields pri-
